Action Line
DIAL 432-3451

Action Line is your service, solving your problems, getting your answers, cutting red tape and standing up for your rights. To get action, write ACTION LINE, Box 230, Long Beach, Calif. 90801, or dial 432-3451 between 9 a.m. and 1 p.m., or 5 p.m. and 9 p.m., Monday through Friday.

Q. Earlier this month I heard a man was going to fly a motorcycle across the Grand Canyon, or something like that, around July 4. This sounds crazy, but I'm pretty sure it's true. Can Action Line shed some light on it? R. C., Bellflower.

A. Sure, but the first-ever stunt is set for next July 4. California motorcyclist Evel Knievel will attempt to jump 1.8 miles, north to south, across the Grand Canyon riding his turbo-powered cycle, says Larry Hester, staff writer for the Motorcycle Dealer News in Los Angeles. Knievel told Motorcycle Magazine he'll do it, and he means to do it. He says he'll probably have to jump off his cycle before it reaches the south rim, and let the bike parachute to the ground. His cycle, equipped with wings, will take off at about 200 miles per hour, and he hopes to coast about 1,000 feet higher than the rim.

Q. I was drafted into the U.S. Army in July, 1917, but never saw service. Still, I received separation papers when the armistice was signed, and those were later destroyed in a fire. Am I eligible for a government pension? H. P. M., Long Beach.

A. No. John Odegard, contact officer for the Veterans Administration in Los Angeles, told ACTION LINE that at least 90 days of service are required to qualify for veteran's benefits. However, duplicates of your discharge from the draft are available upon your request to the commanding officer, U.S. Army Administration Center TAGO, 9700 Page Blvd., St. Louis, Mo. 63132. The center has on file all types of military separation documents, Odegard says.

Q. Recently I saw an animal that someone said is the largest rodent in the world. What is the name of this animal and where can I see one? S. N., Long Beach.

A. The world's largest rodent, the capybara, sometimes weighs up to 200 pounds and is about four feet long. Native to South America, the capybara is rare and rather valuable, says a spokesman for the Los Angeles Zoo. The zoo has a capybara, but it's currently being held in the old zoo grounds in Griffith Park and isn't on view to the public. The San Diego Zoo in Balboa Park has three of the large mammals—all on display.

Q. My husband, a veteran, applied to the Civil Service for a job as a hospital attendant. However, in 1961 when he was still a minor, he was arrested on a misdemeanor charge. Now he's afraid this record may hurt his chances for getting a job. We haven't heard anything from the Veterans Hospital. Can you get an answer for us? Mrs. L. W., San Pedro.

A. Yes. Your husband's application to the Civil Service is in San Francisco pending a check by the regional investigations division of the Civil Service, says Mrs. Ione Gorley, placement assistant at Veterans Hospital. The application was sent to the office April 13, and you should receive word in about six months, Mrs. Gorley says. "All applicants with prior arrests have to be cleared through the regional office," Mrs. Gorley explains. "Usually the applicant gets the job if the arrest has nothing to do with theft or narcotics, or if the crime was committed when he was a minor." You can address inquiries to the regional office at 450 Golden Gate Ave., San Francisco, Calif. 92741.

Q. About two weeks ago, there was an uproar at the Los Angeles City Council session where pacifists were dragged out of the hearing room after they were denied a chance to speak. Can Action Line print which councilmen voted to hear the pacifists? M. E. A., Long Beach.

A. Yes. The council voted 10-5 against suspending the rules and hearing a spokesman for the Peace Action Council June 27. Voting to suspend the rules were Councilmen Ernani Bernarri, Thomas Bradley, Marvin Braude, John P.

Damage In the Millions

Combined News Services
NEWARK, N.J. — Eight more persons were shot to death—among them a detective hit by a sniper and a 10-year-old Negro boy whose head was half blown off—in gun battles between Negro rioters, police, National Guardsmen and state troopers here Friday.

The deaths brought the total to 11 in the nation's worst racial violence since the Watts riots in California in 1965.

At Newark City Hospital, Louis Ginsberg, the administrator, said that five dead Negroes had been brought in Thursday. He was unable to identify four adults. The 10-year-old boy was identified as Edmond Moss.

The policeman, shot while chasing looters, died in St. Michael's Hospital despite massive donations of blood to save him by fellow officers.

THE CRACKLE of gunfire sounded often as the city was gripped by what Gov. Richard Hughes called "open rebellion."

At least 650 persons have been treated for wounds in the crowded, blood-spattered emergency rooms of the city's hospitals since the riots began Wednesday night. At least five policemen have been reported seriously injured. Three policemen were shot Friday.

By early today, more than 1,000 persons had been arrested since the start of the violence.

Damages and looting losses ran into the millions of dollars.

There were running gun battles between rioters and lawmen on the streets of the heavily Negro Central Ward, and at least two pitched battles around the brick towers of housing projects that are interspersed among the sagging, peeling two-story frame homes of the slum.

At the Stella Wright Housing Project, guardsmen and police shot out windows on the upper stories. They said shots had come from the windows as well as a shower of bottles and rocks.

At the Scudder Homes, at 60 Broome Street, an irate Negro, Charles Puryear, stormed up to a guard barricade and demanded, "Are you all trying to kill all of us? I fought for you 15 years ago. I'm wondering if it was worth it."

He led a group of newsmen to his ninth floor apartment. His six children—aged 3 to 15—had been in there at about 5 p.m., he said, when scores of bullets whizzed into the apartment.

The walls and furniture were pitted by bullet holes. The lights had been shot out. The children, barefoot, had been taken to their grandmother's home a few blocks away by the time the reporters arrived.

The rioting started with a brief and localized flareup in the Central Ward Wednesday, and then spread into citywide violence Thursday.

In midafternoon, long before the usual homeward rush hour, the streets that fan out toward the suburbs from downtown Newark in Union and management officials reached a settlement late Friday in the shipyard strike that earlier this week turned Newport News, Va., streets into littered corridors of open warfare.

Federal mediators announced the agreement, subject to ratification by union membership, even as riot police remained at the ready should violence again erupt in the streets and alleyways adjoining the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Co.

"Details of the agreement, as recommended by the negotiators, will be released later and simultaneously" by the union and the company, the mediators said. The strike was the first in the company's 81-year history.

In Salt Lake City, last ditch efforts to avoid a strike against Kennecott Copper Corp. ended in apparent failure Friday and a strike of workers in five western states appeared all but certain today.

SAIGON, Saturday (AP)—Enemy gunners loosed a barrage of rockets on the big U.S. airbase at Da Nang today, killing 13 American servicemen and wounding about 150. A U.S. spokesman said the attack was "the worst ever" on the base.

Hitting with deadly accuracy, the 140mm rockets destroyed or damaged about 20 airplanes and inflicted damage on the base's bomb storage area, the airfield and some buildings.

Damage to American aircraft was estimated in the millions of dollars. Six F4C Phantom jets were destroyed and 10 were heavily damaged. Each of the jets costs nearly $2 million.

Of the wounded, about 70 required hospital treatment. U.S. officials said the rest suffered scratches, bruises and similar minor injuries.

The base had been shelled twice before in the last five months, and a Communist demolition team blew up 36 Hawk missiles on a hill near Da Nang with satchel charges May 14.

Two Marine F8 crusader jets and three big Air Force C130 cargo planes also were destroyed in today's attack. One of the C130s was a command ship used as an aerial "command center," officials said.

WORST SINCE TRUCE New Middle East Flareup at Suez

Associated Press

Egypt and Israel battled with tanks and artillery Friday along the Suez Canal and Israeli jets strafed Egyptian artillery positions in the fiercest fight since the Mideast cease-fire June 10.

The United Nations announced its cease-fire observers will be operating at the canal Sunday in an attempt to stop the fighting that has flared sporadically.

An Israeli communique said Israeli jets hammered Egyptian artillery positions in the area of Suez City at the south end of the 104-mile waterway to stop harassing fire and permit the army to remove the dead and wounded.

Cairo radio said the Israeli planes made four attacks and that Egyptian anti-aircraft fire shot down five Israeli jets. An Egyptian military spokesman said two civilians were killed and at least 46 wounded by Israeli strafing and artillery.

In a letter to the president of the U.N. Security Council Friday night, Egyptian Ambassador Mohamed Awad El Kony accused Israel of "wanton aggression" and said Israeli shells Friday killed at least 28 Egyptians. He said 36 were wounded.

Both sides claimed they inflicted punishment as big guns roared all morning and into the afternoon from the canal's east and west banks. Israel claimed three Egyptian tanks were knocked out and reported five Israeli soldiers killed and more than 20 wounded. Meanwhile Egyptian authorities claimed that in

U.N. Raps Israel on Jerusalem

UNITED NATIONS (AP)—By an overwhelming majority, the General Assembly Friday rapped Israel again for refusing to revoke its annexation of the Old City of Jerusalem.

Israel did not participate in the vote. It announced beforehand rejection of assembly demands that it give up the Old City where Jews, Christians and Moslems all have shrines.

By a vote of 99-0, with 18 abstentions, the assembly approved a Pakistan resolution deploring Israel's refusal to comply with a July 4 resolution asking it to rescind legislation taken to incorporate the Old City with the newer Jerusalem of Israel.

The vote on July 4 was 99-0, with 20 abstentions. The United States abstained both times.

As before, Britain and France voted in favor.

$150-Million Tax Scheme Crackdown

Combined News Services

WASHINGTON — The government asked Congress Friday to crack down on a tax-dodging scheme by Americans living out of reach of the law in resorts of the world. Treasury Undersecretary Frederick L. Deming told the Senate Finance Committee the scheme involves as much as $150 million a year. He said Americans sell their signatures to foreign stock peddlers who reap untaxed profits by reselling the shares in the United States. The scheme started after 1964 when Congress passed an act requiring a 15 per cent tax on foreign securities sold in the U.S. Americans don't have to pay the tax, however, if the foreign securities were bought from another U.S. owner. The key was to get Americans living abroad to sign certificates of ownership on foreign stocks available at lower prices in other nations. According to Deming, $100 million to $150 million a year in foreign stocks were involved. But the Wall Street Journal said other federal officials had estimated that $250 million to $1 billion a year was involved.

Networks Urge Public Corporation

WASHINGTON (AP) — Heads of the major radio-television networks urged Congress Friday to approve a public broadcasting corporation despite the competition it would provide. Frank Stanton, president of CBS, told the House Commerce Committee the step would result in an increase in the audience for educational television. Once established, Stanton said, the system might attract from 10 to 20 per cent of the viewing audience. In another report, three members of the Federal Communications Commission recommended the agency authorize pay television with commercial advertising barred. If approved, the proposal would limit subscription television to large metropolitan areas and permit only one station to a community.

GOP Convention Site Decision Near

WASHINGTON — A special Republican selection committee indicated Friday it will decide July 28, whether Chicago or Miami Beach shall be the site of the 1968 presidential nominating convention. Spokesmen for both cities were interviewed by committee members and GOP National Chairman Ray C. Bliss told newsmen Miami Beach asked for more time to work out details involving facilities that could be made available.

Tijuana Border Investigation Planned

TIJUANA — Mexico's Interior (police) Ministry Friday ordered an investigation and increased surveillance on phony passport traffic from here to the United States. Officials said the recently discovered case of 36 Mexican Nationals with fake passports and U.S. visas involved a Mexican-American counterfeiting ring with operations along the border. Federal police, immigration officers and the population bureau in Tijuana will work to stop the illegal traffic, officials said. California police and U.S. immigration agents will cooperate.

Reverse Integration Plan Working

OKLAHOMA CITY — A program in which white families are moving to a well-to-do, predominantly negro residential area, was reported doing well Friday. The program is called "30 Families." That number of white families, leaders hope, will move into the northeast section. Purpose of the plan is to preserve high-quality neighborhoods and education. Five professional white men have moved into the area and several others are house-hunting, said the Rev. Ed Kelly, who heads poverty program for the Catholic Church.

Escape Device for Astronauts Revealed

WASHINGTON — If an orbiting spacecraft is disabled so normal re-entry is impossible, is the crew doomed to keep on circling the earth? Caldwell C. Johnson, an engineer at the Manned Spacecraft Center, raises the question and offers his answer. His solution is a cocoon-like escape device for astronauts. It is a zippered nylon bag into which the crewman can climb. He thrusts himself toward a landmark with a retro-rocket, and inflates the cover into a sphere for re-entry. Finally, he leaves the bag and lands by parachute.

Bracero Cutoff Hurt U.S. Production

WASHINGTON — An Agriculture Department economist said Friday elimination of a Mexican farm labor import program in 1964 cut Mexico's earnings and reduced U.S. production of asparagus and strawberries. But it is too soon to say what effect the cut-off had on over-all U.S. production, imports and export of crops which previously depended heavily on the so-called "Bracero" workers, Hans G. Hirsch said.

Colleges Urged to Resist Records Checks

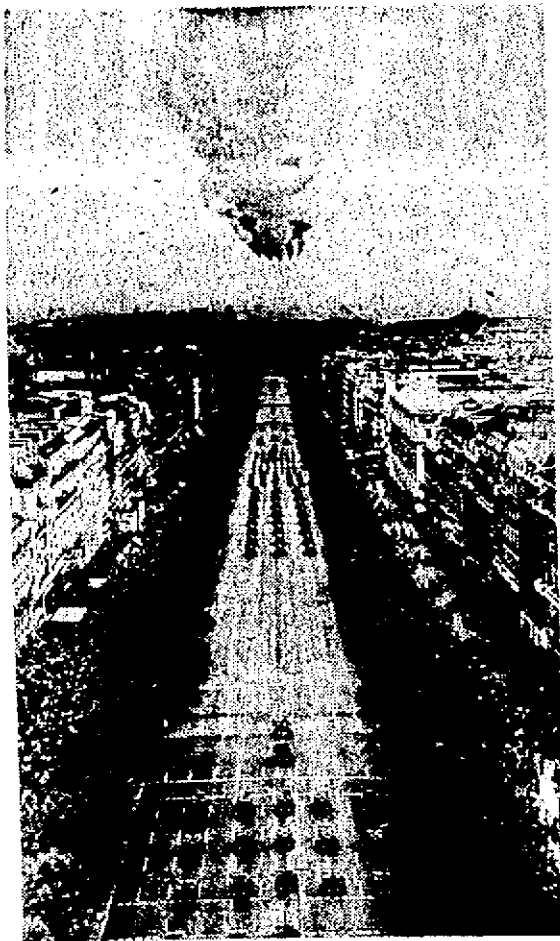

NEW YORK — In a challenge to the House Un-American Activities Committee, the American Council on Education Friday urged colleges and universities to resist any demands to open up students' records to investigatory agencies. The powerful agency told universities the best policy is to "discontinue the maintenance of membership lists of student organizations, especially those related to matters of political belief or action." If rosters of this kind do not exist, they cannot be subpoenaed, and the institution is therefore freed of some major elements of conflict and from the risk of contempt proceedings or a suit, the statement said.

Explosion Hits U of Washington Hospital

SEATTLE — An explosion and fire Friday destroyed a power station serving the University of Washington Hospital, requiring the evacuation of patients and emergency measures to save research specimens. The hospital was receiving facilities that could be made available.

Canal Treaty May Increase Toll

CHICAGO — A proposed treaty between the United States and Panama on the Panama Canal would revise tolls on shipping from a self-sustaining to a profit-making basis and provide Panama with increased revenues. A Chicago newspaper said next to the effect of the treaty and a companion defense treaty, the toll agreement is "the most controversial of all changes proposed in the operation and defense of the canal."

Two C46 planes flying for the international Red Cross to evacuate Kisangani civilians, arrived with 100 persons, most of them Congolese. These had evacuated seven Americans and 103 refugees Thursday. The Red cross was reported to have asked for more American help in evacuating refugees from Kisangani, formerly Stanleyville, capital of Oriental Province. Both were members of the American diplomatic mission.

Nigerian Troops Kill 2,000 Rebels

LAGOS — The Nigerian government claimed Friday federal troops had killed 2,000 rebels and the capture of Nsukka in the secessionist eastern region was imminent. (Broadcasts from the eastern region capital at Enugu denied the claims. Neither side has announced any radical change in the military situation. The government said Nsukka was the only town where heavy fighting was still going on. The rebel radio claimed, however, that fighting continued on another front at Ogoja. Meanwhile a federal Nigerian military communique said government troops believed they have captured Lt. Col. C. Odumegwu Ojukwu, head of the breakaway Eastern region of Biafra.

It was the second night Hong Kong authorities had not imposed a curfew on the colony.

London Mint Admits First Error

LONDON — The royal mint admitted Friday an error, the first serious one, its spokesman maintained, in the 97 years since it became a government department. It had word from New Zealand that "some," possibly as many as 100,000 of the two-cent bronze coins it sent out for that country's new decimal currency, were stamped "Bahama Islands" instead of "New Zealand," and that they lacked a date.

Anti-Communist Demonstration in Peking

TOKYO — Demonstrations against President Liu Shao-chi of Red China broke out in Peking Friday and the official People's Daily assailed him. Marshall Won't Discuss '5th'

Combined News Services

Thurgood Marshall refused again Friday to give his opinion of Supreme Court rulings on confessions. Testifying before the Senate Judiciary Committee on his nomination to the Supreme Court, the U.S. solicitor general said:

"I don't believe any of the court decisions have by the decisions themselves increased crime."

Sen. Sam J. Erwin Jr., D-N.C., led questioning of Marshall, the first Negro named to the court.

Erwin insisted the nominee give his interpretation of the Constitution's 5th Amendment which protects against self-incrimination. Marshall told him, "Any statement I made constraining the 5th Amendment would require me to disqualify myself" from cases touching on this subject.

Erwin replied, "If you don't have any opinion on what the Constitution means, you ought not to be confirmed."

Despite opposition from Southern committeemen, most Judiciary Committee members already have indicated approval of Marshall's appointment and the panel is expected to request Senate confirmation.

L.B.-L.A. Link Rapid Transit Routes Planned

RTD Survey Shows Rail Service as Best

Alternate routes being actively considered for a rapid transit link between Long Beach and Los Angeles were outlined Friday by officials of the Southern California Rapid Transit District in a briefing at the Long Beach Harbor Administration Building.

Engineers and consultants reported on engineering route studies for the "Long Beach Corridor," including one alignment along the proposed Industrial Freeway through South Central Los Angeles.

The alternatives, potential combinations of segments from several routings and projections of the impact of rapid transit in the corridor were presented to planners and engineers from communities along the routes.

The briefers said the routes that could be followed or combined in segments include the following:

Via Vernon, Huntington Park, the Watts area, Compton's central business district and Dominguez Hill.

Via Vernon, Huntington Park, South Gate, Lynwood and Compton about a mile and a quarter east of the Watts alignment.

Via South Central Los Angeles, including Watts, Compton and Dominguez Hill.

The selections resulted, they said, from conferences held since December with the city managers, engineers and planners of the communities along the corridor.

They reported that investigation of current and proposed types of vehicles "proved conclusively" that an electric-powered rail service, with bus feeder network is best for the metropolitan area.

The RTD's projections showed the alternate cordors ending at either of two terminal stations on Ocean Boulevard: one at the foot of Atlantic Avenue and the other in the downtown area west of Long Beach Boulevard.

The RTD said a report is scheduled for issue in the fall, detailing preliminary data on design of facilities, estimates of capital and operating costs, traffic, revenue and financing requirements.

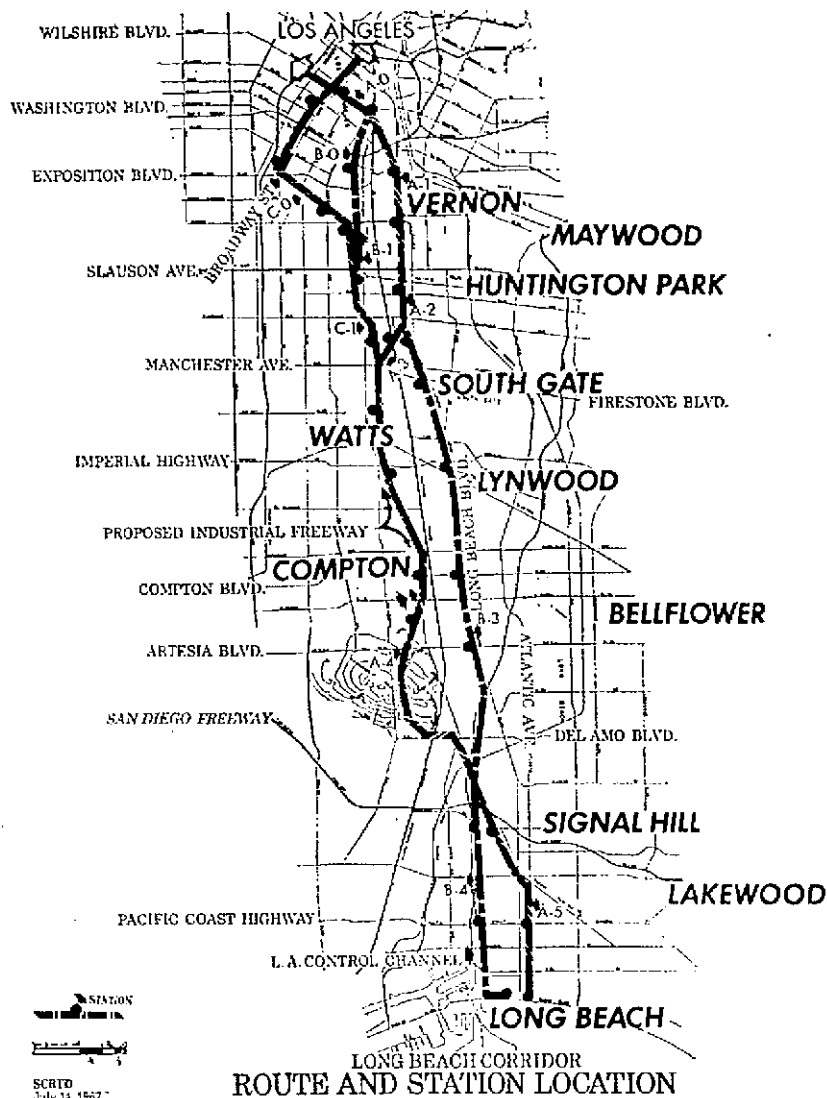

Subsequently a final report will be issued after views of affected communities and citizens are received and that will be followed by public hearings, preparatory to RTD directors adopting a program for submission to voters.

Among the routes outlined Friday, the alignment serving Vernon, Huntington Park, South Gate, Lynwood and Compton would generally follow private and public right of way in the vicinity of the Santa Fe Railroad, Pacific Boulevard, Long Beach Boulevard and the Los Angeles River.

The route through Vernon, Huntington Park, Watts, Compton and Dominguez Hill would generally follow the Santa Fe Railroad, Pacific Boulevard and—South of Florence Avenue—the proposed Industrial Freeway.

Utilization of more extensive freeway right-of-way would include service via South Central Los Angeles, including Watts, Compton and Dominguez Hill and the alignment entering the Industrial Freeway near the Santa Monica Freeway.

Friday's session was the third of four throughout the metropolitan area, meetings having been held in the San Bernardino and San Fernando Valley corridors, with one pending in the Wilshire area.

40 Lieutenant Governors Seek U.S. Funds—Without Strings

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — More than 40 of the nation's lieutenant governors grappled Friday with the problem of how to collect and spread around $60 billion in state and local taxes in a year — then get federal help without inheriting federal control.

That done, they recessed their National Conference of Lieutenant Governors and took an escapist route of sorts. They got in cars, went 40 miles south to Saratoga and spent hours tasting the wines of California, a $200-million-a-year industry.

Presently the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations is hard at work on ways to bring about balance in the federal and state tax structures, with the report due in October.

The commission's staff director, John Shannon, of Washington, D.C., told the lieutenant governors Friday some things which might well be done.

"A good case can be made," Shannon said, "in my estimation for a 50 per cent federal reimbursement grant to those states such as Wisconsin and Minnesota that are coming to the aid of homeowners found to be carrying extraordinary local property tax burdens in relation to their household income.

"Probably for less than $200 million the national government could stimulate a property tax relief program that would reimburse homeowners and renters found to be carrying extraordinary property tax loads in relation to their income."

"This same approach — the conditional federal tax grant — could be extended to local government sales taxes provided they were supplement to a state sales tax and contained food exemption or tax credit provisions."

Shannon suggested that the federal government could match a state's sales collection by 10 cents on the dollar if a state either exempted food or made an adequate tax credit-tax refund provision.

Shannon said tax data "clearly reveal that regressive state and local taxes are swamping the progressive effect of the federal income tax and tend to short circuit the national government's anti-poverty program."

War Foes Seeking to Picket Dow Chemical in Torrance

The Los Angeles-based Student Mobilization Committee—a strongly anti-Vietnam war group—will appear before the Torrance License Review Board Thursday to seek approval of a permit to demonstrate in front of Dow Chemical Co. Aug. 6.

Dow, manufacturer of the chemical incendiary napalm which has been used in the Vietnam war, is located at 305 S. Crenshaw Blvd. in Torrance.

The demonstration will be a rally and will include picketing of the Dow facility, according to Mike McCabe, coordinator of the SMC. He said the August date was selected because it is the anniversary of the U.S. atomic bomb drop on Hiroshima.

MAYOR Albert Isen said that if the permit is approved, Torrance will do everything "by the book" in regard to the demonstrators.

"If they intend any illegality," he said, "they will find out how tough Torrance is," Isen said.

Isen's remark brought swift rejoinder from McCabe.

"The mayor indicates he figures there's a good possibility we plan to do something illegal. What can we do when the man already has his mind made up?"

SMC's demonstration at the Dow plant will constitute only one of several Hiroshima Day observances in the Southland. The Peace Action Council, sponsors of the June 23 demonstration against President Johnson at the Century Plaza Hotel, said Friday it has asked the city of Los Angeles for a permit to conduct a march on Wilshire Boulevard from Western Avenue to Lafayette Park, in the MacArthur Park complex.

Also, the June 23rd Movement, a group hastily formed by citizens involved in the protest directed at Johnson in Century City, has announced that it plans a demonstration in front of the Los Angeles Federal Building on the evening of Aug. 6.

"We're trying to plan everything for the Torrance picketing so that we'll eliminate any questions or problems. So far, the police have been very cooperative in helping us make these plans," McCabe said.

"We're trying to plan for all contingencies," he added. "We're even planning on what to do in case the people stop marching."

Assembly OKs Tightening Access to Arrest Records

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Legislation to tighten public and press access to arrest records passed the Assembly Friday and

SERIES ON L.B. SHIPS IN VIETNAM

Two Naval actions that signaled a fateful change in the Vietnam war will be reconstructed in a five-part series starting Sunday in the Independent, Press-Telegram.

The actions involved two Long Beach-based destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin off the coast of North Vietnam during the week of Aug. 2, 1964.

Associated Press writers Harry F. Rosenthal and Tom Stewart will relate those "dramatic events for I-PT readers in an account based on weeks of fact-gathering and interviews with more than three dozen members of the crews of the USS Maddox and the USS C. Turner Joy.

moved to the Senate with virtually no debate.

The measure by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, would make arrest records no longer available to the public except for legitimate newsmen and then only for five days after arrest.

Currently, there are no such limitations, Biddle said.

He told newsmen the bill in most circumstances would not hamper news gathering because action against an arrested person must be filed in court within 72 hours after arrest or the person is released.

And upon court filing the record is open to the public, he said.

However, he admitted that in case a person were arrested, released shortly afterward and managed to hush the case up, officers could not tell newsmen about the arrest if it later leaked out.

This, he agreed, might happen in such a case as the arrest and release of opera stars Rudolf Nureyev and Dame Margot Fonteyn in a San Francisco hippie raid this week.

NEW JERSEY STATE POLICE EXCHANGE FIRE WITH NEWARK SNIPERS

Newark Race Riot Rages On; Guard Has 'Kill' Orders

a radial pattern were choked with traffic.

APPREHENSIVE white drivers kept their windows rolled up as they drove past street corner clusters of young Negroes.

Traffic was slowed at the city's busiest intersection, Broad and Market Streets, where fire apparatus was parked next to two burned out stores.

Later liquor stores and bars were ordered closed.

The curfew, originally scheduled to begin at midnight, was moved up — first to 11 p.m., then to 10. But scattered sniping continued at midnight.

Shortly after midnight, the rioting inched to within one-half block of the Irvington border, northwest of Newark.

The full police force in the suburb was mobilized.

A National Guard tank and a truckload of machine guns were ordered in as curfew violations spread.

'Use the Bayonet and They Move'

lined along Springfield Avenue with fixed bayonets and kept it reasonably quiet.

It resembled a street scene on the day after a revolution of a military coup — with soldiers leaning against the buildings among the debris of looted shops, or driving jeeps over heaps of uncollected garbage and broken glass spewed onto the avenue.

One guardsman, a captain who commands a company of helicopter-borne infantry, stood in the street with a cocked .45-caliber pistol in his belt.

"They put us here because we're the toughest and the best," he said. "We haven't put anybody on the rooftops. If anybody throws things down on us, then it's shoot to kill—it's either them or us and it ain't going to be us." The captain refused to give his name.

The guardsmen ordered into Newark are under the command of Maj. Gen. James F. Cantwell, commander of the New Jersey Army and Air National Guards and, as such a member of Gov. Richard J. Hughes's cabinet.

THE GUARDSMEN and state police started arriving in Newark in early morning through the city's white sections, where small knots of people stood on the street corners and shouted such things as "Kill the Bastards" and "Shoot the Niggers."

Hughes had summoned the state police and activated the National Guard at 2:40 a.m. in what he called a "state alert," which means the soldiers were not federalized and the city was not placed under martial law.

Most of the guardsmen, however, apparently did not hear of the call until they had arrived at their offices and factories.

Gen. Westmoreland 'Pleased' With Troops

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Congressmen who talked privately for an hour with Gen. William C. Westmoreland said Friday the U.S. commander in Vietnam was very pleased with the troop reinforcements. President Johnson promised him to fight the war.

"I think he has been promised the assistance he needs," said Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La., a member of the House Armed Services Committee. "He felt he was getting full cooperation."

Westmoreland, who flew back to Vietnam Friday after his mother's funeral in Columbia, S.C., and talks at the White House, met unannounced late Thursday with Hebert, L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, and Rep. William H. Bates, R-Mass. Reports had been published that Westmoreland was irked at Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara's repeated statements that better use should be made of the allied troops already in Vietnam.

However, Hebert said he saw no evidence of a disagreement between Westmoreland and his civilian boss. Bates agreed with this assessment. "I talked with both Westmoreland and McNamara," Bates said. "There was no split there."

Bloody Enemy Attack Wrecks U.S. Airbase

post" to direct air strikes over North Vietnam.

Air Force Col. Robert Maloy of Coral Gables, Fla., commander of the 366th Tactical Fighter Wing at Da Nang, said about 15 other planes parked at a corner of the base received minor damage from flying shrapnel.

The rocket attack was believed to have come from two firing positions southwest and northwest of the 1,600-acre airbase.

U.S. officers estimated that about 50 rockets were fired, some of them 120mm and others 140mm, the largest rockets in the enemy arsenal.

Col. Maloy said five fire fighters were killed when bombs under a blazing jet exploded.

Four Air Force enlisted men's barracks, housing about 80 men each, were wrecked. Two of them took direct rocket hits.

Associated Press correspondent Steve Stibbens reported that only three men were killed in the barracks and the rest escaped serious injury.

Stibbens said several rockets struck a big bomb storage dump on the west side of the field and the ensuing explosion sent a large fireball 1,000 feet in the air.

Buildings in a nearby Marine compound were crushed "as if struck by a giant fist," he said.

At noon, nearly 12 hours after the attack, the air field was still closed to all aircraft except small scout and observation planes.

Five U.S. coastal vessels intercepted and fired on a gun-running enemy trawler off the South Vietnamese coast early today. The trawler was run aground in flames near Cape Batangan, 340 miles northeast of Saigon.

It was the eighth such trawler intercepted by U.S. warships since they began Operation Market Time, a coastal surveillance campaign, in February 1965.

U.S. headquarters disclosed the strafing Friday by two U.S. Air Force F100 Supersabre jets in the Mekong delta south of Saigon. Five South Vietnamese soldiers were reported killed.

The headquarters announced the termination Friday of a major operation by the 3rd Marine Division in northernmost Quang Tri Province below the demilitarized zone. Operation Buffalo began July 2 and accounted for 1,103 enemy killed, headquarters said. It listed U.S. casualties at 159 killed, 885 wounded and one missing.

Q. Can you tell me how I can get a job as a cafeteria worker for the Long Beach Unified School District? Mrs. C. S., Long Beach.

A. Sure. Applications for cafeteria helper are available in Room 314, Personnel Commission, at the Long Beach Board of Education office, 701 Locust Ave. A spokesman for the district says female applicants must take a civil service examination, which might be given this fall or early next spring. Part-time helpers work about two hours a day, earning $1.91 per hour. Applicants should also be U.S. citizens, in good physical health and have an eighth-grade education.

SOUND OFF!

I'm a believer in the free press and free speech, which I think the news media are supporting. The right to free speech hinges on the truth, which I believe the proposed "pirate" radio station off Long Beach will ignore. A station of this type could easily become a focal point for subversive propaganda and lies. Who knows what it will do, if it's outside the control of the Federal Communications Commission? Something should be done to control it if it abuses the airways. The ship which takes the tapes to the ship shouldn't be allowed to return to shore, and the men manning the station shouldn't be allowed shore leave. Also, why couldn't the FCC jam the frequency of the radio? One thing is certain—this station could be a menace to truth and if so it must be stopped.

REACTION

I'd like to respond to Mrs. K. H., who wrote the poignant letter about no one smiling at her children because they're half Negro. If it would help, I'd like to visit her and give her children the smiles all youngsters need and deserve. I have a dear friend who's married to a Negro and they have a charming girl who's now 16 years old. The reason there is so much bitterness between the races is that children learn it from adults. It is a shame to our city that Mrs. K. H., the wife of a man fighting for this country, should have to beg people to smile at her children. E. C., Los Alamitos.

Rusk Says Israel Attack on U.S. Ship Unjustified

WASHINGTON (AP) —

The United States has had no adequate justification from Israel for the attack on the USS Liberty, Secretary of State Dean Rusk told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee Friday.

The attack on the communications ship by Israeli torpedo boats and aircraft off the Egyptian coast June 8 caused the deaths of 34 sailors. More than 70 others were injured.

Rusk said the Israeli investigation of the incident was continuing. He told the committee the government of Israel was not satisfied with the results of its first inquiry into the causes.

Chairman J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., of the committee said members wanted a report in connection with the final decisions to be taken on the pending foreign aid bill. He did not indicate the connection.

The secretary said this country would file damage claims against Israel as a result of the deaths, injuries and damage caused.

Reagan Names Anaheim Man to Water Board

Robert A. Daily, manager of a battery-manufacturing plant in Anaheim, was appointed Friday to the Santa Ana Regional Water Quality Control Board by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

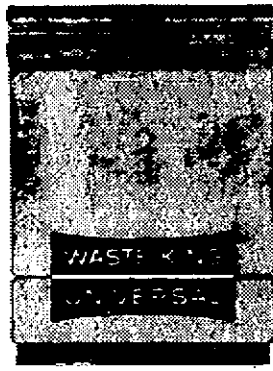

Daily succeeds to the post vacated by Marvin F. Gade of Fullerton, who will have business connections in the Midwest. His term of office will end Sept. 30, 1969.

He has been active in community affairs since he moved to Anaheim in 1953 to head the Delco plant.

BITTERNESS, VIOLENCE IN NEWARK

'Get Whitey' Snarls Echo Newark Under Gun Rule

Hartford's Race Peace Shattered

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Tense police arrested at least 15 Negro youths in their teens and 20's late Friday night as renewed violence shattered the uneasy peace in Hartford's troubled North End.

Fires and rocks thrown through windows kept police and firemen moving into various sections of the predominantly-Negro district as violence flared for the third consecutive night.

One of the rocks smashed a window in the home of Adam Battles, Negro owner of Battles Luncheonette at Main and Pavillion Streets, scene of the spark that touched off the first disturbance Wednesday night.

Battles had called police Wednesday to arrest a 24-year-old Negro who Battles charged had used improper language in front of a waitress at the luncheonette.

Earlier Friday night, Battles' brother, the Rev. Richard Battles, had met with police and city officials in an effort to release some of the tension in the area.

U.S. Troops Offered in N.J. Race Riots

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson talked by telephone Friday to New Jersey's Gov. Richard J. Hughes and offered to consider sending federal help if it should be needed to quell riots in the city of Newark.

However, at the moment, presidential press secretary George Christian said, Gov. Hughes had made no request for federal help.

Christian said the governor telephoned Johnson late Friday morning, apparently after making an inspection tour of the area where disturbances have broken out for the last two days.

The governor already has called out state troopers and the National Guard to help Newark police.

Christian said the President told Hughes he appreciated getting a full report on what local officials were doing to maintain order. And, Christian said, the President told Hughes that if any federal help was needed he would be "glad to receive any additional information and to consider it."

By RICHARD COHEN

NEWARK, N.J. (UPI) — There was bitterness everywhere.

"Let's go get whitey," a young Negro shouted "we ain't going to let them shoot us without shooting back."

Another, Glen Bobbit, 22, stood in the rubble and told how a policeman threatened to blackjack a friend standing in the doorway of his apartment building.

"... Then the cop pulled out a pistol. He shot at him. It was so close I couldn't understand why my friend didn't fall down. Then I realized that the cop was shooting with blanks," Bobbit recalled.

But he said minutes later a bullet splintered a telephone pole near him and a young boy fell to the ground, wounded in the shoulder. Another was struck in the ankle.

On the surface, it appeared to be business as usual Friday in downtown Newark. Touched by the riots Thursday night. But the city asked all businesses and offices to close by 3 p.m. EDT and discharge their employees early to avoid any traffic tieups during the rush hour.

In central ward, where the trouble started, it was the business of looting, and salvaging, and surveying damage.

"I've been here 20 years," florist Art Staikos said as he rummaged to find enough flowers to make a spray. "I did them no wrong, and I never had any trouble, even though business is 100 per cent colored."

Six youngsters approached Staikos. One, carrying a bag, asked, "Got anything we can put in this bag?"

Next door Mrs. Bella Samson, owner of Samson's Liquors, sadly agreed with a prediction that the worst was yet to come.

"This is only the beginning," she said. "They looted all they can. Now they'll burn it."

Almost coincidentally, a column of black smoke rose over a building three blocks away. Fire engines, escorted by National Guardsmen and state police, roared to the scene.

At the fourth police precinct Desk officers struggled to process some of the more than 500 persons who were arrested. Each booking took 15 minutes. Outside, about a dozen young men and women milled about, shouting charges of police brutality.

A truck carrying National Guardsmen and four young Negroes pulled up.

The Negroes, their hands shackled behind their backs, were hustled to the ground. They shouted to the crowd: "You saw it, soul brothers. You see what they are doing."

Shipyard Strike Is Settled

strike spread Friday to Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., the country's top producer. A management spokesman in Akron, Ohio, charged the walkout was without "rhyme or reason."

"The union hailed the agreement reached Thursday with general tire as a major breakthrough," the spokesman said. "But they turned down the same settlement when we offered it to them."

The walkout by the United Rubber Workers (URW) against Goodyear completed a shutdown of the "big five" rubber makers.

The nation faces the threat of selective railroad strikes on Sunday that could trigger a countrywide railroad shutdown.

Top officials of the key unions involved in a festering contract dispute with the carriers said they would not be surprised if sporadic local walkouts occurred when the no-strike pledge that six unions gave Congress last month expires at midnight today.

George Christian, the presidential press secretary, said that President Johnson thought a strike would have "grave consequences" for the economy and Vietnam war effort.

UC Regent, Reagan in Fund Row

BERKELEY (AP) — University of California Regent Norton Simon of Los Angeles tangled with Gov. Reagan and another regent Friday over fiscal policies against a background of sharp budget cuts dealt the nine-campus institution this year.

The fiscal flurry came after UC Vice President Charles J. Hitch reported that the university would need an additional $70 million in state funds in the next fiscal year — a total of $303 million.

The regents this year submitted a modified $264.5 million budget which was cut in the executive budget to $251.9 million, upped by the legislature to $257.1 million and finally at $251.5 million.

HITCH generally was praised for the long-range report but Simon challenged Reagan, an ex-officio regent, for his belief that capital improvements for UC should be on a pay-as-you-go basis rather than bonds.

Simon, looking directly at the governor, said that if pay-as-you-go were to be the UC capital policy from now on, then "everything should stop, that all future planning for improvements should come to a halt and that efforts be made to preserve the quality of the university as it is now."

"Let's keep what we've got going," Simon added.

The governor reaffirmed his view on pay-as-you-go. He was backed by Regent Edward Carter of Los Angeles, who said the public had supported the growth of the university for many years and he believed the long-range plans would not threaten or jeopardize the school system.

SIMON SHOT back: "Let's get out of the dream world."

At one point during the skirmish, Reagan with a wry smile told Simon "Our honeymoon was as sweet as it was brief."

The governor said that he approved the long-range plan and that he was confident the university would maintain its quality.

But Simon responded: "I hope you are supportive of our long-range plans . . . If that is so, I am going to recommend that we use our endowment funds — stripping ourselves to the bone" to provide UC with everything it needs."

Appointive School Chief Plan OKd

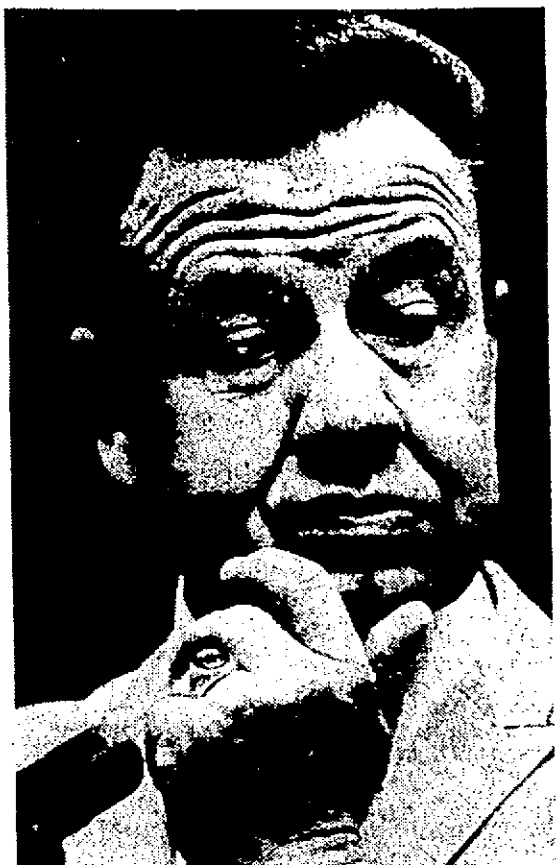

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The state Board of Education Friday approved in principle a report on reorganization of the state education system, including an appointive state school chief.

The board also accepted the recommendation of Arthur D. Little Inc. that Dr. Conrad Briner of the Claremont Graduate School become coordinator of departmental reorganization.

The board said the financing of this portion of reorganization would come from federal funds and a contract with the firm would be negotiated. Little had estimated about $95,000 for the program for a year.

The main point of the report includes putting the state superintendent of schools under appointment by the board rather than the present elective system. Little also recommended a 10-member board of education appointed by the governor by a list presented by the legislature to serve 10-year overlapping terms with one new member appointed annually. Presently, board members are appointed by the governor directly and serve four years.

Campus Drug-Users May Face Expulsion

BERKELEY (UPI) — Regents of the University of California Friday unanimously approved a resolution calling for discipline of students using marijuana and LSD.

The motion, by Mrs. Randolph Hearst, of Hillsborough, was passed on a voice vote without debate.

"Students shall be subject to disciplinary action," including dismissal from the university, for the use, of unlawful, dangerous drugs and narcotics," the resolution said.

As originally submitted by Mrs. Hearst before the regents' two-day meeting, the resolution called for outright dismissal of students using, distributing or possessing drugs, including marijuana and LSD.

Norton Simon of Fullerton said the weaker version was worked out during a heated, 3½-hour dinner table discussion Thursday night.

The motion said the regents were reaffirming their policy of disciplinary action because "the often tragic consequences of such drugs are chronicled in the now-familiar accounts of bizarre behavior, degradation, impairment of mental facilities, injuries and death."

Park Information Officer Bill Schnettler said Esther Grace, 17, Montclair, was swept downstream in the swift water.

Teen Girl Drowns in Merced Rapids

YOSEMITE NATIONAL PARK (UPI) — A Southern California teen-ager drowned in the Merced River here Thursday when she and two other girls and a boy were caught in rapids while swimming.

Park Information Officer Bill Schnettler said Esther Grace, 17, Montclair, was swept downstream in the swift water.

The board also accepted the recommendation of Arthur D. Little Inc. that Dr. Conrad Briner of the Claremont Graduate School become coordinator of departmental reorganization.

The board said the financing of this portion of reorganization would come from federal funds and a contract with the firm would be negotiated. Little had estimated about $95,000 for the program for a year.

Unruh's Tax Relief, School Plans Slashed in Senate

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh's $375-million plan for property tax relief and school aid was slashed and rewritten to Gov. Reagan's specifications Friday in its first Senate test.

But the Assembly's influential Democratic leader made it clear that the battle wasn't over.

"Every major bill that finances state government is awaiting action in the Assembly," Unruh, D-Inglewood, warned the Senate Education Committee.

Unruh referred to the Republican governor's $1.01-billion tax bill, which the speaker has said should be cut. The tax program now is before the Assembly.

Instead of Unruh's plan, the Senate voted Friday to approve its own $120-million school aid-property tax relief plan, sponsored by Sen. George Miller Jr., D-Martinez.

REAGAN's tax bill includes the financing for Miller's legislation.

Earlier, the Education Committee unanimously approved amendments to Unruh's bill that substitute Miller's provisions for the speaker's.

Chairman Albert S. Roda, D-Sacramento, explained that was the only way to salvage the speaker's bill from opposition by Miller and by committee Republicans.

Unruh smiled when the amendments were approved but appeared tense when the committee failed to pass the amended bill on the first vote.

The committee sent the measure to Miller's Senate Finance Committee only after Unruh told members pointedly that "I hope it wouldn't be necessary" to delay Reagan's tax bill in the Assembly "because of the loss of one committee vote."

Sen. James Whetmore, R-La Habra, then switched his vote from no to aye.

UNRUH's original bill would provide $200 million in property tax relief, $175 million in direct aid to schools and ease some of the state's strict unification requirements. The committee preserved only the unification provisions of Unruh's original bill.

Unruh proposed that his plan could be financed with the help of some $195 million in Reagan's tax bill which the governor wants to use to pay off long-term state debts. Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch has said the debt must be paid off this year.

"I have serious reservations and reasonably good advice that this is not a necessity," Unruh said.

He said other money could come from Reagan's proposed $120 million earmarked for school aid, some surplus funds, and from budget savings the governor intends to make.

Miller, an education committee member, maintained his long-standing opposition to over-all property tax relief. He said Unruh's bill would only "take $200 million out of one pocket and put it in another."

MILLER also said that Unruh's plan could produce higher local taxes if boards of supervisors raise county levies to fill the gap left by the lower school taxes required in the bill.

Miller's school aid plan is designed to provide about $77 million school aid that local districts could use to lower property taxes, but would not be required to.

His legislation would aid child care centers, strengthen mathematics and reading programs and provide for all California children to attend kindergarten.

The Assembly's version of Unruh's bill also contains portions of similar bills proposed by Assembly Minority Leader Robert T. Monagan, R-Tracy, and by Assembly Speaker pro tem Carlos Bee, D-Hayward.

Monagan sharply criticized Unruh on Friday for his stand on Reagan's tax program.

By "tinkering" with Reagan's tax bill, Monagan said, "the speaker is jeopardizing funds for . . . the school aid bill for which he is the principal author."

Long Beach area Boy Scouts are living it up these midsummer days... living it way up high in the San Bernardino Mountains at their new Camp Tahquitz at Barton Flats. Their fun-in-the-sun days are made possible by the generosity of many local businessmen, including the leading new-car dealers of Long Beach.

I was with a group of the local dealers that toured the camp area this week and Tahquitz is something to see. Twenty-eight miles above Redlands, the newly built camp replaces Camp Tahquitz which was at a lower altitude in the same area. When the original camp comprised 180 acres, the new one takes in 640 acres of some of the most beautiful mountain country in the West.

THE CAMP embraces three mountain meadows and slopes from 6,700 feet down to the meadows at 5,700 feet. Boys on vacation here live in lodges with appropriate Indian names such as Comanche, Cheyenne and Winnebago. On the grounds there is a ranger's house, a health lodge, an obstacle course and a crafts center. A mountain stream runs through the camp.

The land was purchased through a grant by Will J. Reid, former Long Beach insurance man, now deceased. Then Jim Craig and Henry Clock, local businessmen, began a drive to raise funds to build the camp itself. The new-car dealers of our city were called on to raise money and they went at it with vigor. Jim Willingham of Boulevard Buick and Dick Browning of Browning Oldsmobile organized the dealers into the fundraising group.

In three years $510,000 dollars was raised by the dealers and Long Beach merchants.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF

Pearl Birch Condition Better

Mrs. Pearl Choate Birch, 60, was reported in "satisfactory" condition at Los Angeles County General Hospital where she is under treatment for high blood pressure and a possible heart condition while held on two counts of assault with intent to commit murder.

The burly former practical nurse, widow of 95-year-old millionaire A. Otis Birch, was arrested by Compton police Thursday night for allegedly blasting a rifle shot at a police officer and another man.

The shot, police reported, was the climax to a dispute over rents at a duplex dwelling at 716-718 E. Cypress St., and narrowly missed Officer Rex Council and Rod Ferguson, 35.

Shotgunned Man Condition Serious

A Wilmington longshoreman who was allegedly wounded by shotgun blasts when he tried to rob a Carson-area dairyman, was in serious condition Friday in the prison ward of Los Angeles County General Hospital.

Robert Gregory Flores, 32, of 1001 W. G. St., was arrested when he went to Harbor General Hospital for treatment of pellet wounds in his side and leg Thursday night.

Firestone deputies reported that William Van Bleek, 65, owner of the Vermont Dairy, 22410 S. Vermont Ave., was carrying a cash box into his house when a stocking-masked gunman armed with a .45-caliber automatic tried to grab it. The bandit's weapon discharged wildly, attracting Van Bleek's son, Michael.

The son grabbed a shotgun, ran outside, and fired twice. The first shot missed the bandit, inflicting minor pellet wounds in the elder Van Bleek's hand and leg. The second felled the robber as he ran through a field, though he got up and ran to a waiting car.

Stalled Tourists Bring Controls

Tighter Federal Aviation Agency restrictions of flights sponsored by air travel clubs may result from the plight of Southland tourists who were stranded for three days in Germany.

The group, on a trip sponsored by the Berliner Klub Insulander, were stalled in Frankfurt where authorities ordered safety repairs to the plane.

The FAA has promised to look into complaints of the party, which landed at Long Beach Airport Wednesday. The agency will inspect the airplane, a four engine DC-7 owned by Magellan Air Travel Club of San Francisco. It also proposes tighter requirements for crew qualification, training and proficiency and equipment on the aircraft for such flights.

At a press conference Thursday, six of the travelers threatened legal action over $1,400 expenses for the delay which both clubs have refused to pay.

L.B. League Seminar Today

The Long Beach Community Improvement League will sponsor an informal seminar for public school teachers at 7 p.m. today at league headquarters, 2222 Olive Ave.

Ernest Clark, past president of the league, said the group hopes to make it the first in a series of summer classes and seminars to aid teachers in working with students of minority groups in the central area.

Area boats enthusiasts are mourning the death of Chester Forrest Bailey, instructor and leader of the U.S. Power Squadron, who died Wednesday of a heart ailment at the age of 56.

Bailey kept his own boat, a 24-foot sloop, in Long Beach Marina 18. He was a Navy chief in World War II. He continued his work as squadron education officer despite his lengthy illness.

Surviving are his wife, Marion, of the home address, 410 Coastline Drive, Seal Beach, and two daughters, Jessie and Barbara. Interment will be in the Veteran's Administration Cemetery, Los Angeles.

man Blake, sociologist at the University of California at Santa Cruz. Dr. Blake has lectured up and down the state on techniques of working with minority students, parents and community groups, Clark noted.

Today's meeting is planned for teachers from the elementary grades through high school throughout the city.

"We would like to draw more of the dedicated teachers in our school system into the central area, as well as work with those already here," Clark said.

LBJ Seeks Change in China Policy

WASHINGTON — It hasn't been announced, but President Johnson has made a very courageous move in regard to Red China.

He has come to the conclusion that the United States cannot ignore the largest country in the world population-wise, especially now that China has the hydrogen bomb; and that it must become a member of the community of nations.

The President came to this decision despite the power of the China lobby in this country.

Ever since the McCarthy era it has been worth a politician's life to advocate friendly relations with China. Gen. George Marshall, former chief of staff and the man who did most to win World War II, was castigated as a traitor on the Senate floor by both McCarthy and Sen. William Jenner, R-Ind., because he advised that we cooperate with the Chinese Communists. He suggested a coalition Communist cabinet with Chiang Kai-shek.

McCarthy was so vitriolic against three career diplomats who had advised the same policy that John Foster Dulles panicked and fired them. Since then few members of the State Department have been willing to stick their necks out regarding China except Roger Hillsman, assistant secretary of state under Kennedy, who has now written a revealing book on our Far Eastern relations.

For Johnson to make an affirmative decision regarding Red China, therefore, will win him few votes in the coming election.

NEVERTHELESS he decided—first, because China has nuclear weapons; second, because it is the controlling factor regarding North Vietnamese peace—that the U.S. should change its policy.

Therefore, when Premier Ion Gheorghe Maurer of Romania came to Washington for a White House talk, Johnson informed him that the U.S. was ready to change its policy. The President further requested Maurer to go to Peking and inform Mao Tse-tung that he, Johnson, believed China must become a respected member of the community of nations.

The President knew that Romania, unlike some of the other Communist states, had maintained close ties with China. He had an extraordinarily frank and friendly talk with Maurer, who was the only Communist foreign minister to come to Washington for a conference. Romania had been working with Denmark to try to find a formula for peace in the Near East.

WHEN MAURER went to Peking last month, the press reported that he was trying to patch up relations between the Soviet Union and China. Actually, however, he went to Peking on the mission for Johnson.

A detailed report on his visit has not yet arrived from Bucharest. The President does not expect any change overnight. But he has made the first gesture and it is one of the most important foreign policy decisions of his career.

One clue as to why the National Rifle Association is able to get $2,717,300 annually from the American taxpayers to practice target shooting comes from a look at the House Appropriations Committee which votes the money.

CHAIRMAN of the subcommittee on military construction and second in command of the defense subcommittee is good old Rep. Bob Sikes, D-Fla., who is also a major general in the Army Reserves and one of the rootin' tootin' advocates of guns in the hands of hunters, rifle association members and others.

On the Senate side the man who writes the gun legislation is Roman Hruska, R-Neb., a passionate friend of the National Rifle Association. Hruska is now pushing a new gun bill which is a very weak substitute for that proposed by the administration and the two Kennedy brothers, who want to guard against future assassinations.

Hruska's gun bill is about what Sen. Tom Dodd proposed prior to Nov. 22, 1963—namely, the control of mail-order sales of hand guns. After Nov. 22, 1963, Nik Katzenbach, then deputy attorney general, stepped in to propose stringent controls in the trade of all guns. Bobby Kennedy, then attorney general, was too shaken up at the time to do very much.

DODD went along with this new legislation. But almost four years have elapsed and no bill has passed Congress.

Although the Hruska bill in the Senate is woefully inadequate, Sen. Teddy Kennedy, D-Mass., will probably urge that it be OK'd by the Senate judiciary subcommittee, so it can be amended on the Senate floor.

The danger is, however, that the full Senate Judiciary Committee won't let it reach the Senate floor.

College Dispute Ended

Cerritos Board Supports President

A long-smouldering dispute between Cerritos College President Dr. J. W. Mears and several faculty members has been ended—if not settled—by the college's board of trustees.

The board, refusing to disclose any of the particulars of the charges against Dr. Mears, this week set aside the charges with the opinion that they were merely a summary of individual complaints by nine faculty members.

The board didn't make any further statement regarding the faculty allegations, presented to the board more than 2½ months ago.

The board held a series of closed hearings—more than 25 hours of them—to discuss the charges made against the Cerritos president. The press and the public have been barred from all of the meetings and neither Mears nor faculty members have yet discussed the charges.

The nine teachers who signed the charges against Dr. Mears are still teaching at Cerritos, the president acknowledged, although he said he "didn't know" if any of them had signed their fall contracts. Two administrative aides involved in the charges have been reassigned to teaching duties, he said.

Other recent actions within the Cerritos district tend to confirm the rumors of rifts between teachers and the college president. Earlier this month, for instance, trustees voted pay increases for teachers and administrators but specifically exempted Dr. Mears from any increase. Mears has been president at Cerritos since 1962. In 1966, his contract was rewritten to run through 1969.

Music Store Pair Held in Tax Evasion

Accused of failing to report $453,118 in receipts for the four years they operated four music stores, John Floyd Taylor, 58, and his wife Eunice, 54, were arrested Friday by Internal Revenue Service agents.

The IRS agents said the Taylors were picked up in Beverly Hills under warrants issued by the Federal District Court on federal grand jury indictments returned March 3, 1965.

The Taylors are scheduled to be arraigned on July 27 before U.S. District Judge William William E. T. Gray in Los Angeles.

The Taylors operated the Anaheim Music Center, the Little Theater of Music in Lomita, the Southwest Music Center in Bellflower and the South Bay Music Center in Costa Mesa from 1957 through 1960.

Rail was fixed at $2,500 for the Taylors.

Little Kimberly Hutson is a girl with medical problems.

You need only to look into her eyes to see she has troubles.

The whites of her eyes are blue.

But things are looking up for Kimberly, thanks to the marvels of modern surgery.

Kimberly, only 4 years old, isn't concerned at present about the fact that the whites of her eyes are blue.

But that sign was one tipoff to her doctor.

KIMBERLY, DAUGHTER of Mrs. Sandra Hutson, 5544 Elm Ave., has a congenital defect known as osteogenesis imperfecta.

In plain English: brittle bones.

(Blue eye whites are one clue to the ailment.)

Kimberly's main trouble has been her left thighbone, where three or four fractures have already occurred because of her ailment.

The bone also was bowing and shortening.

The outlook for some brittle-bone victims can be frightening.

"I've seen some youngsters who have suffered as many as 65 fractures," a Long Beach doctor noted, commenting on the gravity of the situation. "There would be new fractures, old fractures and fractures in the process of healing."

He added: "And I've seen kids with bones twisted like pretzels."

Customarily, treatment is to insert a steel rod into the bone that gives the most trouble—the one that keeps howling and breaking. Trouble is, because of bone growth, surgery has to be performed every two to three years so that a new rod can be implanted.

But Kimberly will be spared all that.

A new-type rod has been inserted into her left thighbone. It will be left there, and will not have to be replaced from time to time.

The stainless-steel rod is telescopic so that it grows with the bone. It is known as the Bailey, named for Dr. Robert Bailey, clinical professor of orthopedic surgery at University of Michigan.

A Long Beach orthopedic surgeon, who performed Kimberly's operation in Memorial Hospital of Long Beach, said the rod, when implanted, measured one-quarter inch thick and nine inches long. By the time Kimberly's bone growth is completed—when she's 15 or 16—the rod will have expanded to 15 to 16 inches in length.

It probably will be left in place indefinitely, her surgeon says.

The rod will prevent bowing or bending and will reduce the likelihood of frequent fractures. It will accomplish this by lending reinforcement to the growing bone.

"Each end of the Bailey rod is attached to the end of the left femur (thighbone)," the surgeon explains. "As the bone grows, so will the rod."

Kimberly's operation is believed to be the first of its kind to have been performed in the Long Beach area.

Negroes, Whites Confer on L.B. School Needs

Members of the Long Beach Unified School District board of education met with four representatives of the Negro community Friday to exchange ideas on how best to improve the educational opportunities of minorities.

Dr. Clyde Taylor, spokesman for the Negro representatives, said the most critical area of need is in communication skills—reading. He explained the problem facing the Negro child entering public school is that "he is caught between two language groups. In a sense he is bilingual. He has to make two conversions, from his home English to standard spoken English and from standard spoken English to reading English."

The Negro representatives asked for more Negro teachers and school administrators to help in central area schools, asserting the need for "educators who could better understand" the psychological problems facing the Negro student.

Pointed out as areas needing improvement were counseling, vocational training, textbooks and student-parent activities. The group asked the school board to inaugurate a program to allow parent participation in the classroom.

School Board President Jerry Jacobs said the board agreed with much that was presented by the Negro representatives in a 15-page written report, explained what the district already was doing along the same lines and promised an interim report in August on how the district proposed to meet these problems.

An appeal from the fathers of two fugitives—sought in the execution murders of a pair of U.S. Border Patrol officers—appeared Friday.

The life of Daniel Montoya—now in jail in Tucson, Ariz., as a suspect in the murder of two U.S. Border Patrol officers—was threatened by one of the pair of fugitives now being hunted throughout the Southland, Montoya claims. In an exclusive interview in Sunday's Independent Press-Telegram, Montoya will reveal the name of the man who vowed to kill him. He will also tell his reasons for fearing for the safety of his wife and 8-month-old son. Mrs. Montoya, who left Friday on a flight to Tucson to meet with her husband, has been in hiding since Tuesday of this week.

parently failed to impress the FBI Friday.

An FBI spokesman said only that its agents are "continuing our investigation of the case, just as we've been doing right along."

Asked if the FBI felt that the plea by Frank Bono and Pio Matlong for their sons to surrender themselves to police might persuade the pair to give up, the spokesman said:

"I'd have to say no comment on that."

"Did you hear the appeals made by the two fathers?" he was asked.

"No comment."

EARLIER FRIDAY the fathers of Victor Bono, 28, and Florencio Matlong, 33, accused of the June 17 murders of George Azrak, 21, and Theodore Newton Jr., 24, in a remote Riverside County cabin near Anza, held a press conference in Los Angeles to ask their sons to give themselves up to police.

"This must end," said Pio Matlong.

"Why do they hunt my son like an animal? He's a human being and a fine man. He must come in."

Frank Bono said that he wanted his son to give up "before something drastic happens."

"Please don't keep running," he urged his son, "because they're going to catch you."

"I want you alive."

The two are accused—along with Harold and Alfred Montoya of San Pedro—with shooting Border Patrol officers George Azrak, 21, and Theodore Newton, 24, on June 17 in a mountain cabin near the Riverside County town of Anza.

Gunner's Mate Decorated Here

Seventy-nine combat river patrols, accurate shooting and excellence in operations netted the Bronze Star for Chief Gunner's Mate Ray Steinberger.

The chief, now assigned to the oiler USS Navasota, received his medal aboard ship with combat "V" Friday from the ship's commanding officer, Capt. James Willis.

The award was for duties while assigned to the river patrol forces in the Run Sat zone in Vietnam in 1965 and 1966.

At the same Naval shipyard ceremony Capt. Willis presented Navy Commendation Medals to Boilerman J.C. Larry Bigler and Seaman David A. Reeves, for activities serving in South Vietnam.

Boilerman I.C. William O. Goodpasture was awarded a Navy Unit Commendation Medal for work with a Naval Support Activity Group.

And Senior Chief Damage Controlman John A. Merkel retired after more than 24 years of service.

Rubbish Brings Two Convictions to L.B. Owner

Robert S. Foster was convicted Friday on two counts of allowing flammable rubbish to accumulate on property in the city.

Foster, who did not appear in court, was found guilty by Municipal Court Judge John C. Spence who set Tuesday as the date for sentencing.

Foster was found guilty of violating Municipal Code Section 3100.2713, by allowing rubbish and other debris to accumulate on two pieces of property he owns at 2500 E. 14th St. and at 1505 Cherry Ave.

Marriage Set by Councilman

Westminster Councilman Philip Anthony will be married to Carolyn Bannister of Long Beach tonight in ceremonies at the First Methodist Church in Garden Grove.

The 31-year-old city official, target of three recall attempts in the last two years, has announced he will resign from the city council next year because of the press of duties elsewhere.

Gunman Takes $150 in L.B. Gas Station

A bandit robbed a Long Beach service station attendant of $150 early Friday.

The victim, Richard L. Catlin, 23, told police the robber sneaked up behind him in the lube room at the Gulf Gas Station, 600 W. Pacific Coast Highway, and pulled a gun.

Carriers' Grouping Criticized

From Our National Bureau

WASHINGTON — A concentration of 6 aircraft carriers at the Long Beach Naval Shipyard was termed Friday "an open invitation to another Pearl Harbor."

Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, said he was appalled by a photograph showing the half dozen flat-tops lying together in berths at the shipyard during the week of June 25. The photo appeared in the Independent Press-Telegram.

"One nuclear weapon or device of even small dimensions, delivered by air or submarine to this one harbor, would break the back of the carrier force of the U.S. Navy," Gross declared.

HE SAID THE Navy had given assurance that such a concentration would never again take place after Congressional complaints over a collection of 6 carriers in the same harbor in 1956.

"I hope that the Navy will disperse these carriers immediately and that such a concentration will never again be permitted, for this is an open invitation to another Pearl Harbor," Gross stated.

Rough Sea Battering Transpac

Trouble dogged the course of vessels competing in the Transpacific Yacht Race Friday; one ship was dismasted, another took a "knockdown" and a third—the one carrying the radio that kept the mainland up to date on race progress—went unreported.

By radio code, the yacht Audacious laboriously told of ill seas and misfortune following yachtsmen on the 2,250-mile Long Beach-to-Honolulu race. The vessel reported:

—The Chiriqui, from the California Yacht Club, had lost radio contact. No explanation was given.

—The Salacia, out of Newport Harbor, was dismasted Friday during especially high winds.

—The Rampage, from South Shore Sailing Club, took a "knockdown"—by a huge wave which crashed down on the top of the craft—but suffered no heavy damage.

Race spokesmen in Los Angeles said they were unable to compute the leader in the race as of Friday.

Judy Wagner 'Powder Puff' Winner

By LEE CRAIG
Aerospace Editor

For Long Beach's Fran Bera, it was an exasperating second place for the third year in a row... but for Judy Wagner of Palos Verdes Estates, the 1967 Powder Puff Derby was sweet victory after five previous unsuccessful tries.

Blonde Judy, wife of Ellis O. Wagner, a South Bay oral surgeon, flashed across the Torrance Airport finish line at 12:36 p.m. Wednesday after the 2,493-mile flight from the race's starting point at Atlantic City, Fran, a seven-time Derby winner and always the pilot to heat, fell far behind in the handicap contest because of bad weather from Martinsburg, W. Va., to Cincinnati which Judy, with her speedier plane, managed to avoid.

From then on, it was a come-from-behind effort by Fran and her co-pilot, Barbara London, also of Long Beach, which brought them from 14th to second but failed to overhaul the Palos Verdes Estates woman.

Judy averaged a shade over 11 knots above the par speed established for her plane, a Beech Bonanza, or about 2 knots better than the average posted by the Long Beach racers.

Seven of the first 10 places were filled by California women. Only 51 of the 75 planes that began the race crossed the Torrance Airport terminus before the 5 p.m. Thursday deadline.

Third place went to Tig Pennock of Irvine, followed by Gini Richardson, Yakima, Wash.; Margaret Callaway, San Pedro; Margaret Mead, Goleta; Jean Rose, Palos Verdes Estates; Mary Ann Noah, Mission, Kan.; Lois Miles, Woodland Hills, and Betty Curran, Everett, Wash.

Another pair of Long Beach pilots in the race, Grace Page and Phyllis Walker, finished 17th.

Mrs. Wagner, third last year, has been flying for a decade and has logged 2,700 hours. She holds a doctor of philosophy degree in Spanish literature.

One of the many racing teams forced to land at an unauthorized airport because of bad weather—thereby being disqualified—was Mary Pinkney of Torrance and Pert Davis of San Pedro, who failed to let the disqualification deter them.

They unofficially rejoined the race anyway and finished with a score that would have placed them high in the standings.

Prizes awarded winning pilots totaled $3,000 in cash, plus trophies and various other awards offered by merchants.

Awards were made at a Friday night banquet in

JUDY WAGNER

Airport Marina Hotel, Los Angeles.

Young Church Leaders Give Their Views on the Hippies

By LES RODNEY

A lot has been written and said about hippies by adults, to whom they remain a source of concern, puzzlement and controversy. This week we asked some non-hippie young people — specifically youthful-area church leaders — what they thought of their much discussed contemporaries.

Here are their reactions.

STEVE HEINSOHN, 18, a leader at First Lutheran, all-around athlete, top scholar and twice student council president at Lutheran High School, from where he graduated last month, feels the word hippie itself has become a confusing thing. "The original motivation of some of them, as I understand it, was a good motivation, peace and brotherhood and to be friends to everyone. But when they held the love-ins, and got all that publicity started, a lot of outsiders and weird people joined in."

"Now it's really confused as to just what a hippie is."

Steve, who is holding down a summer job at the airport in preparation for attending UC at Santa Barbara, said it was his impression that the word "live-in" was misinterpreted by adults, and was not intended to mean sexual looseness. However:

"I was caught in the traffic jam driving by Griffith Park when they had a love-in there. My friend took a look at them. He said a few were very poorly dressed, wearing very little. I don't care for that at all. Those things do them no good."

To sum up his feelings as a young Christian, Steve says "I have sympathy for some of them, some are tremendously misunderstood, then many are just trying to take advantage of publicity. One pitfall is that you can't really detach yourself from society and accomplish anything good. I don't think they can really last in isolation from the world. But now they're getting what they want."

One thing Steve has no ifs ands or buts about — long hair for boys.

"I think long hair is ridiculous for boys. I can't see how they can stand it."

JOHN WEEKS, 16, youth president at First Congregational, is a Poly High senior with a 4-point average who hopes to go on to Stanford or Yale.

"I think the hippies are basically justified in their rejection of society's hypocrisy and inequities," he said. "But I think it's unfortunate that in their rejection they don't take any positive, constructive action.

"They're facing the situation, they say there it is, but instead of trying to deal with it, they more or less run away and hide from it."

As long as there is freedom of speech, he contends, "they can have their dissent heard. If you have a criticism of society, government policy or whatever, it seems to me you should use the channels that are open and make yourself heard first."

John finds an irony in the hippie emphasis on love.

"Love is a Christian ideal, of course, but they are exclusive about it. In their own communities, they show love openly for one another, help each other. But they have rejected the common, average middle-class citizen, said in effect to hell with him. That is limited love."

He shrugs off the exterior manifestations like long hair as of no significance.

"People should focus on what is important, what they are saying, what the philosophy is, what they're objecting to. Somebody's been wearing long hair all the way through history."

As for the use of drugs, to the extent they are used by hippies: "Well, this is a much-debated thing. They feel as justified at using this method of escape as the ordinary citizen is in using alcohol. I'm against the use of alcohol, LSD, opiates of all sorts, and tobacco. We have a legal system structured to allow alcohol and prohibit something less dangerous like marijuana. It's not consistent, and that's how the hippies feel about that."

The only way the church is going to reach them, John believes, is "to convince them they sympathize with them, understand what they're trying to say, and see what's going on in the world that the hippies object to."

"If the hippies see more universality of love for mankind in the church, I mean. It's question on both sides of establishing sincerity of communication before acceptance. Then it may work both ways. If the hippies have something good, they may influence the church too."

LARRY FITE, 24-year-old senior pre-dental major at Long Beach State, an Air Force vet and immediate past president of Christ's Ambassadors at First Assembly of God Church, holds this opinion:

"I don't really have anything against the group as a whole, they are a group of young people trying to escape reality, as in the use of drugs. They are not able to cope with life as it is."

"I feel they're really looking for something. If we would basically try to love them, show them a little kindness, try to understand them, rather than just condemning them . . ."

Adults, he said, tend to overlook the fact that hippies are individuals. "They just tend to lump them together as grubby kids, you know."

Beards and long hair by themselves do not bother him. "I'm wearing a beard myself right now," he said with a chuckle. "Some people have labeled me a hippie. I'm not a hippie because I wear a beard. That's just an individual choice. I would say, if someone does wear a beard, it's nice if cleanliness goes along with it."

His feelings, he noted, were confirmed when he attended the July 4th fireworks display at Huntington Beach and saw a group of hippies. "They are trying to get recognition. I think many of them are lonely, and really lost."

"I myself am no longer seeking something. I have found Christ," Larry said. "I feel we Christians should reach them with love and try to show them the right way."

NANCY MANN, 20, is a young people's leader at Bixby Knolls Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), a junior at Long Beach State, working this summer at a local savings & loan company.

"The hippies are definitely trying to say something," she says. "They are trying to say how materialistic we've become, how everything revolves around material things."

"Even in their opposition to the Vietnam war," she amplified, "they feel it is basically a question of economics. They are for humanity. They think man has become too inhuman to man."

Hippies are actually in search of a deeper religion, Nancy believes.

"They ignore our religion because they see so much hypocrisy in it. They see people saying one thing and doing another. While it is true there is no such thing as a perfect Christian, and we understand that, still, they do see SO MUCH of the hypocrisy . . ."

She draws a sharp line at the use of drugs.

"I completely disagree with those who use drugs. And I don't agree with promiscuity. But here again they're trying to show society, they are entirely rebelling against society, since society doesn't listen to the younger generation when we talk. The hippies, however, don't realize that people certainly won't listen because of the wrong and far-out way they're presenting it."

A Cal State professor, she notes, will make a personal study of the hippies in San Francisco. "They'll listen to him when he reports," Nancy comments with a touch of wryness. "He's a man of letters, you know. But they won't listen to the hippies themselves."

Nancy doesn't mind the long hair on boys, "if it's conservative."

"I know that's contradictory, I mean if it's clean, and well, neat, it doesn't look that bad. Really, though, parents can't deal with what the kids are SAYING, so they tear them apart on such superficial things."

She raps parents on another count, the emphasis on pushing the children too fast to grow up. "Adults don't realize that the child doesn't have enough time to mature in his own way, and let God grow and influence him in the right way."

Some of the hippies, she points out, "just get together as kids, to relax and have a good time among themselves. Really, they're trying to promote the relationship between people, caring for others on a person-to-person basis."

The church, Nancy stresses, must deal with them on a people-to-people basis. "That is what is so often lacking today. People don't talk to other people as people. If they did, there would be more communication."

NEXT WEEK: Youth leaders of other Long Beach area churches add their views on the hippies.

Council Backs Taos Indian Claim

The National Council of Churches has thrown its weight behind a bill now pending in Congress which would restore to the Taos Pueblo tribe of New Mexico some 50,000 acres of land confiscated from the Indians by the U.S. government in 1906.

The U.S. Indian Claims Commission ruled in 1965 that the lands were unjustly seized for inclusion in a National Forest. But the commission has no power to restore disputed lands. That requires an act of Congress.

The controversy has a religious dimension because the lands concerned — which contain Blue Lake and the watershed of the Sangre De Cristo Mountains — have been a sacred precinct for the Taos Pueblo Indians for seven centuries. The lake and some 20 other sites in the area have served as natural shrines for Indian worship.

In pleading for congressional action, the National Council of Churches said that the matter is urgent because the U.S. Forest Service may permit commercial lumber companies to cut timber in the Indians' sacred valley.

"Once again the Indians seem about to be victimized by the rapacity of the white man," said Rev. Dean M. Kelley, director of the National Council's Committee on Religious Liberty.

The Restitution Bill (H.R. 3306) was introduced by Rep. James A. Haley, D-Fla., chairman of the House Subcommittee on Indian Affairs, and hearings are tentatively planned before that subcommittee.

CONFIDENT LIVING The 'In-Spite-Of,' 'As-If' Principles

By NORMAN VINCENT PEALE

An important secret of living successfully in this world is to turn every defeat into a victory. The negative thinker will immediately react that this is living in a dream world and cannot be done. But it is done repeatedly by strong-minded, strong-willed and strong believing people.

Some very wise men are lined up on the side of the proposition that you have in you to do just about what you will with your life. For example, Plato said: "Take charge of your life; you can do what you will with it." Success depends on how and what you think — the type and quality of your thoughts — according to Disraeli who said: "Nurture great thoughts for you will never go higher than you think."

Power flows to the person who firmly believes that he can — to the individual who sends out positive, not negative, thoughts, Emerson stated: "Great hearts send forth the secret force that incessantly draws great events." Like attracts like. Send out negative thoughts and they will activate the world around you negatively, drawing back to you negative results. Send out positive thoughts and actions

LUTHERANS REAFFIRM BIBLE TRUTH

NEW YORK (AP) — God "created all things in six days," Adam and Eve "were real, historical human beings," Sin "had its origin in one man, Adam."

These beliefs were stoutly reaffirmed by the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod Friday as its eight-day biennial governing convention neared its close.

Responding to a rash of complaints that traditional concepts of the creation story were being undermined and distorted, the delegates adopted a resolution reasserting the teaching.

However, they swept aside a demand that the days of creation be defined as 24-hour days. Many biblical scholars maintain that "yom" or "day" in Hebrew usage may refer to an era of time.

The convention also rejected moves to condemn "theistic evolution" — the idea that God may have used evolution as the process of creating man.

However, the resolution condemned "all those world views, philosophical theories, exegetical interpretations and other hypotheses which pervert" the "biblical teachings and thus obscure the Gospel."

AT NORTH L.B.

Marion Downs, concert soloist who interprets the Negro people through folk-songs and spirituals, will sing Sunday, 7 p.m. in North Long Beach Methodist Church, 5600 Linden Ave. Since the death of her husband, a college president in Texas, Mrs. Downs has devoted her efforts to the betterment of race relations on a cultural level. Recipient of a Fulbright Grant and Atkinson Foundation Award for opera and folk studies, she is a graduate of Columbia, Juilliard School of Music, and studied at the Verdi Conservatory in Italy. The Southland chapter of the National Assn. of College Women recently honored her for achievements in race relations.

you proceed with relentless pressure you will become as you desire in spite of difficulty.

If you are filled with fear and want instead to be filled with courage, start acting as if you had courage. It may be awkward at first, but keep acting as if you had courage, and in time you will become courageous. If you are failing, start acting as if you were succeeding. Of course, you must apply other rules of success, namely: study, work, effort, personality growth; but you also need the as-if principle to really succeed. This principle works on the basis of the psychological law that you tend to become what you truly image or desire, provided you want it badly enough to give yourself to get it.

With these three creative principles you can turn every defeat into a victory.

Mo. Synod Lutherans Enter Fight on Bias

Brief Controversy Flares at Meet

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — American Lutheranism's conservative wing, which traditionally has been wary of dealing with social issues, condemned ghetto patterns in American cities this week and entered "the causes of open housing."

"It's time for the church to put itself on the line," declared Rev. Herbert F. Schmidt of Santa Cruz, Calif., in urging the action at the biennial governing convention of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod.

Delegates overwhelmingly approved a resolution that "discrimination in housing persists in many of our American communities and consigns many of our fellow citizens and brothers in Christ to life in ghettos."

As a result, "their fundamental freedoms are denied and legitimate ambitions frustrated" and "minority groups are isolated from an interchange which could lead to mutual love and understanding," the church added.

It urged active support and participation in "housing programs that seek to achieve equality of opportunity for every human being," and it authorized fund-raising for such projects.

ONE OF THE denominations noted theologians, Rev. Dr. Martin Marty, called the action a "leap forward."

The resolution came after a wave of discussion, most of it affirmative.

The 2.8-million-member church, second largest of the nation's three major Lutheran bodies, generally has shunned public-policy issues in the past, stressing doctrine and devotional aspects, but it recently has registered widening concerns.

"Very few political issues are clear-cut," declared Schmidt. "But open housing is."

Rev. Dr. Bertwin L. Frey, head of the committee which recommended the action, said that under it, "seed money" could be provided community or church groups backing integrated housing projects.

"It means that our church is now putting its money where its mouth is," he told a news conference.

SOME opposition to the move was voiced, however. Rev. Reuben A. Bauer, of Rolla, N.D., said he had worked among the outcasts in India and that "some of the happiest people are among those that don't have open housing."

"They are children of God, and under the circumstances they are happy where they are — because that's where the Lord put them," he added, speaking against open housing in the United States.

A Brazilian delegate shot back, "The Lord didn't put them there — the American people put them there." He called the ghetto pattern the "shame and disgrace" of the United States, and the problem behind its race riots.

"We don't have it in Brazil," he added. "People of all races live on the same streets. You ought to try it in North America."

Concerning the church's customary stance toward public questions, a report by its Social Action Commission, headed by Rev. Dr. James Manz, said:

"It has not been easy for Lutherans to find their place and their way in the perplexing area of 20th-century Christian social thought and action.

"CHRISTIANS who believe that salvation and life come from Jesus Christ alone, through the means of grace in word and sacrament, have been basically oriented to a churchly and a priestly form of Christian community and an 'other-worldly' view of life.

"The prophetic application to social action may be quite easily muffled or stifled. We must admit that we in our fellowship have not performed our full share of the civic and social task."

5,000 Indians Start Vocational Training

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Interior Department said Friday about 5,000 American Indians started vocational training programs in the last fiscal year and 2,000 finished while $88 did not. The rest are still training. The department said in a statement recommending Congressional authorization of increased appropriations for the program that another 1,652 were placed in on-the-job training positions.

The pending legislation would increase annual appropriations from $15 million to $25 million.

Rev. Floyd Osborne has joined forces with his brother, Rev. E. L. Osborne, pastor of Bethel Tabernacle at 200 E. 68th St., and will be associated pastor.

"Rejoined" is more accurate, since the brothers and their wives have in the past preached a song together as "The Osborne Quartet." Rev. Floyd was recently associated pastor at Guiding Light Tabernacle.

METHODIST BISHOP HITS PROTESTANT UNION PLAN

Key issues separating Methodists from other denominations are so extreme that the Consultations on Church Union will come to naught, influential Bishop Nolan B. Harmon predicts.

Doctrinal differences "seem to impose the real obstacle toward a union of diverse churches," he says in the Christian Advocate, Methodist bi-weekly.

Methodism's strong episcopacy, with subordination of local congregations to the general church, presents an insurmountable barrier to current merger talks among 10 Protestant bodies, the bishop stresses.

Methodist bishops, he explains, exercise a tremendous power unknown to any other Protestant episcopacy — controlling the appointment of every pulpit.

The General Conference (supreme legislative body) of the highly centralized Methodist Church, Bishop Harmon elaborates, "tells us what laws we are to obey, what disciplines we are to have, what doctrine to believe, what hymnal, what ritual, what patterns of life, what monies to raise."

Ten denominations are engaged in COCU—Christian Church (Disciples of Christ), Evangelical United Brethren, Presbyterian Church, USA, Methodist Church,

Episcopal Church, United Church of Christ, United Presbyterian Church, African Methodist Episcopal Church, AME Zion and Christian Methodist Episcopal Church. The EUB, soon to unite with the Methodists, have the same form of organization and discipline.

The fundamental question, the bishop states, is whether Methodists can expect their "itinerant system" to be incorporated in a united Protestant church.

"The answer absolutely is No," he says.

(Under the itinerant system, pastors are transferred periodically from pulpit to pulpit, the appointive power being entirely in the hands of the area bishop. In the early days of American Methodism, ministers were moved annually, but nowadays they often times are kept in one local church over a number of years. Congregations have no voice in the selection of pastors).

Other bodies engaged in COCU, Bishop Harmon points out, "have no idea whatever" of giving up the local church "right to select its own minister," nor will ministers of other denominations surrender their "right to select its own minister," nor will will ministers of other denominations surrender their "right to choose their own places."

Therefore, he stresses, "the great sine qua non of Methodist policy" is itinerancy. He calls it the "lifeblood of our organization—every preacher to have a place; every place to have a preacher."

Bishop Harmon currently is editor of the Encyclopedia of World Methodism. From 1956 to 1964 he had been administrator of the numerically strong Western North Carolina Conference and from 1961 to 1964 also in charge of the North Alabama Conference. He has participated in ecumenical activities.

He notes that the Methodist Church holds title to all local church properties. "This, he says, would never be agreed to by congregational-minded bodies."

A major hitch to actual union, he writes is that without itinerancy each independent congregation would be "practically a law unto itself, with the minister and his beliefs determining the people's creed and convictions."

In conclusion, Bishop Harmon recommends that Protestant union be delayed until many other bodies—the 10 now negotiating—including all the major denominations — be ready "to form a true ecumenical union."

where I never run out of prospects."

Harrington and Bob Hope got into a lively hassle after both toured Vietnam. Harrington, while praising Hope's work for the troops in Vietnam, rapped the effect of the touring troupe of show girls he brought along.

The six-foot, 250-pound former insurance salesman and football star is known for his metaphors, such as "people want a tiger in their tank but no Lord in their heart."

Here in the Southland for the meeting at the Bellflower church, and Downey High, he said: "The great problem in America today is not with communism from without, but with complacency within. We seem more concerned about unity among the churches, civil rights, birth control

His ministry has been featured on national television programs. His acceptance on night life Bourbon Street is attributed by Harrington to the act that he makes no bones about his mission, carrying his Bible with him. "I'm not here to tell them how bad they are," he says, "but how good they can be." One night club owner agreed to his preaching on the stage in a service featuring a (fully clothed) stripper won over by Harrington singing "What a Friend We Have in Jesus." There was an overflow crowd.

With his slogan "Evil spelled backward is Live" and his Bible, he says wide open Bourbon Street is "right in the middle of hell,

Giant Fire Ravages Washington Forest

QUINULT, Wash. (AP) Western Washington's largest forest fire in 15 years spread over 3,500 acres of the Quinalt Indian Reservation on the Olympic Peninsula Friday, raging out of control despite efforts of 500 firefighters.

Smoke from the fire drifted down the Willamette Valley as far as Eugene, Ore., about 240 miles to the south. The cities of Aberdeen and Hoquiam on Washington's Coast were coated with a layer of ash.

Catching Up With Some Mail

Some recent (and not so recent) mail to the Religious News Section:

"Dear Sir: The writer of the review of Paul Blanchard's book about the Vatican Council (June 17), whoever it was, apparently did not know that Mr. Blanchard is known as a professional anti-Catholic writer, who makes his living at this. Instead of praising his one-sided opinions, it seems the reviewer ought to tell who this man is."

—F.C., Garden Grove

(The review, by religion editor Les Rodney, did refer to Blanchard as "foremost American critic of the Roman Catholic Church," and concluded that he "remains a relentless critic." As a correspondent at all the sessions in Rome, and author of a volume on same, Blanchard's views deserve to be dealt with on their merits.)

"Dear Mr. Rodney: May I thank you sincerely for the splendid article which you wrote concerning the new facilities here at First Brethren. I specially appreciate the fairness with which you explained the purpose and progress of our work."

—Charles W. Mayes (pastor)

"Editor: As a Methodist layman unable to attend the annual convention of the Southern California-Arizona Conference at Redlands, and being most keenly interested in its work, I secured every newspaper I could to read about it. Fortunately, an old friend in Long Beach mailed me a copy of the Independent, Press-Telegram of June 24. May I say thank you for what is by far the most knowledgeable and interesting article on the convention that it was my pleasure to read."

Free Will Baptists

Break on Bible

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — A dispute over Bible translations in a West African tribal tongue has led to a vote by the National Association of Free Will Baptists to sever its ties with the nondenominational American Bible Society.

Some 3,000 Baptists, meeting in their biennial convention, approved a resolution dissociating the denomination with the society. The resolution authorized talks with "other evangelical denominations" to work out a new method of translating and publishing the Scriptures.

Rev. Lonnie Spark, a missionary for the last eight years to the Ivory Coast, said translations made by the society, into the Kulanago tribal language, were "at variance with the meaning of the text in the original language" of the Bible.

the world. Why stress the conservative standstill viewpoint?

—James Hill, Long Beach

(We don't feel any particular major viewpoints are either stressed or ignored on these pages. Christianity Today is an interesting, widely circulated magazine which, incidentally, publishes attacks on itself from the ecumenical-minded.)

"Dear Mr. Rodney: I am pleased with the accuracy of the article you wrote. There is very little, indeed, in which even the word order of quotations were changed and nowhere did you misrepresent the spirit and intent. The only point I felt was possibly in a inaccurate was with regard to the inference that Chapel services were segregated during my prior military service. This was not so, to my knowledge. . . . Again, thanks for doing such a fine job on such a poor subject."

—Joe H. Horgan (Chaplain, Marine Corps Air Facility, Santa Ana)
(To the personal knowledge of myself and others, some services were indeed segregated during World War II, though the picture varied, and segregation was rarely if ever seen during services in actual combat areas. In any case, and this is the main point, there is certainly no segregation to be found at services in the Armed Forces today.)

My dear friend John Nengle, that very well-known news photographer, tells of the young lady who decided to absent herself from today's hustle-bustle, harum-scarum type of living, so she entered a convent.

Young Lions Dominate L.B. Golf, But Mangrum, Runyan Steal Show

By DOUG IVES

It was nearly 6 p.m. and most of the gallery had gone home. The young lions, Bob McCallister, Tommy Jacobs and Ronnie Reif, had already posted double wins and only Charlie Sifford's upset loss to Paul Scodeller disrupted the form chart.

Trudging up the 18th fairway was a somber looking gentleman named Lloyd Mangrum, now 53 and a survivor of 10 heart attacks. Not far away was an impish man in a floppy hat named Paul Runyan, now 59 and by far the oldest man left in the Southern California PGA Golf Championship at Recreation Park.

ship at Recreation Park.

It was like a page out of the past. Two of golf's all-time greats of yesteryear in head-to-head combat. They probably had played hundreds of tournaments together, but NEVER had they met each other in match play.

It was Alphonse against Gaston, said Runyan, but the 200 fans who dogged them on every hole knew there was nothing comical about the way they hit a golf ball. Some of their sideline banter was funny, but that was all.

Coming up 18 Mangrum was four over par, which may be a far cry from the scores of his heyday but not had on this sweltering afternoon when you consider he had already played a 17-hole morning match and won 2-1 with an even-par performance.

Runyan wasn't particularly proud that he also was four over par, but the elder statesman from La Jolla had walked every hole of every round (four in two days) even though carts were permissible and just that morning scored a hole-in-one (his 21st) on the 143-yard 12th hole.

Mangrum, tired and showing his age, was one down when he took out a 5-iron and put it 18 inches from the cup on the tough, 400-yard hole. The easy birdie came a few minutes later and off the oldsters went into overtime.

Runyan studied a 30-foot birdie putt on the first hole and he sent it curling in as the gallery roared their approval. Paul didn't crack a smile and Mangrum only laughed.

"You didn't really expect to sink that, now did you Paul," said the winner of 33 tour tournaments. "I was just hoping to get down in two from where I am."

Mangrum was exactly 12 feet from the cup. The crowd hushed, expecting him to miss. After all, Lloyd was tired and he obviously was not taking his match too seriously.

But destiny wouldn't have it. The ball rolled straight and true... Lloyd smiled a knowing smile... and off they went to the second extra hole.

Mangrum creased one 280 yards up the middle, but Runyan hooked his drive way to the left and needed a good recovery to get within 30 feet of the cup. Mangrum chipped past the pin onto the fringe and he was perhaps 12 feet away — the exact measurements as the previous hole.

Runyan studied his putt only for a few seconds, sent it toward and it tipped out. Paul laughed, took an imaginary bite out of his putter and then watched quietly as Mangrum sized up his putt. He stroked it quickly but alas, it was two inches short.

Now for hole No. 3, Mangrum outdrove his opponent but hooked an iron 15 yards left of the green. Runyan was short and when it appeared both were about the same distance from the flagstick, Paul decided a coin flip would be a good way to decide who shoots first.

"Heads I win, tails you win," he said.

Runyan lost the flip but chipped within three feet. This time Mangrum couldn't respond. He muffed his approach, chipped long and watched impassively as Runyan easily sank his three-footer.

Ironically, Runyan is paired today against another long long shot, Jimmy Powell, who routed Johnny Lucas 6-5 and upset seeded Jerry Steelsmith 1 up, with a 1-under-par 71.

McCallister and Jacobs continued to be the class of the tourney, and they could meet in today's semis, starting at 1:30. McCallister won his Friday matches 5-4 and 6-5, while Jacobs also

Sox Tactics Leave Angels Out in Cold

By ROSS NEWHAN
Staff Writer

CHICAGO — The pennant is not yet on ice, but White Sox baseballs are according to the Angels.

Indeed, the venerable horsehide would seem to be a frozen asset of the pitching rich Southsiders.

The Angels alluded to the old controversy after a memorable, 3-2, victory in the opener of Friday night's twin bill.

Memorable since it snapped a five-game losing streak here. Only an 8-0 own supply.

High above the playing field, in the press box testing laboratory, the game ball was found to have only one-quarter of the spring of the other when dropped from the same height.

The experiment was made 10 times and results were conclusive which will come as no surprise to members of the Detroit Tigers who were the first to raise the question two years ago.

In the meantime, Jerry Adair, traded recently by Chicago to Boston, stated unequivocally that his former employers froze the baseballs.

Minnie Rojas, who saved the opener with a sub-par performance, offered additional evidence.

"The ball the umpire gave me," said Minnie, "was cold and wet. It was very slippery."

It was, of course, merely defrosting.

"I definitely thought the ball was chilly," said Rick Clark, who started and won the opener.

The Angels did so by scoring only one earned run. They have scored only four in the seven games here and the nightcap shut-out was their fourth.

The purpose of the frozen ball, of course, is to chill the long-ball power of the opposition. The single, which is the A-bomb of the White Sox attack, is still possible.

CHICAGO collected nine hits off Clyde Wright and Pete Cimino during the first two innings of the nightcap and seven were singles.

It was 5-0 when Pete Ward hit a rare home run which the Angels claimed was catchable until a fan interfered with Jimmie Hall's pursuit. The ensuing protest prompted Bob Lemon's ejection.

Behind the early cushion, Joe Horlen, (11-2), who could do it with baked baseballs, left the Angels high and dry.

Pretense Should Age Diver Even More in Rich Gold Cup

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH
Executive Sports Editor

The 28th running of the $162,100 Hollywood Gold Cup, the nation's richest race for members of the equine handicap division, looms today as perhaps the biggest farce in the history of major horse racing in the nation.

Five horses — JUST FIVE — will run in this afternoon's "classic."

The reason is that an ani-bly the best horse in the mal named Pretense, possibly the nation's richest race for members of the equine handicap division, looms today as perhaps the biggest farce in the history of major horse racing in the nation.

Some rag-tag outsider might do the unexpected, but the dark brown colt appears as much of a cinch as anything can be in horse racing.

Hollywood Turf Club isn't too happy with the race this year itself. To reach the guaranteed gross figure—which not only includes the winner's purse of $102,100, but also $30,000 to second, $20,000 to third, and $10,000 to fourth, Hollywood must add $147,100 to the money which has been paid by horsemen in nomination, entry and starting fees.

The suspense was lost in the race when Forli, the Argentine champion, was held out of the rich stakes. That was predicted a week ago by this writer because the trainer of Pretense also massages the muscles of Forli. Charlie Whittingham didn't want to spoil the thus-far brilliant 9-0 record of Forli by stacking him

De Vincenzo 2 Ahead as Nicklaus Falters

HOYLAK, England (AP) — Roberto de Vincenzo, a balding, 44-year-old Argentinian making his 10th bid for the title over the past 20 years, shot two strokes ahead of South Africa's Gary Player and three ahead of defending champion Jack Nicklaus Friday in the record-breaking third round of the British Open Golf Championship.

De Vincenzo had only 31 putts in his five-under-par 67 over Hoylake's rain-dampened links for 70-71-67—208, eight under par.

Player, who has won all golf's major crowns, came back into contention with a record-equaling 67 for 72-71-67—210. The 67s were a record for the tough, par 72 old layout.

Nicklaus, also the reigning U.S. Open champion slipped in the race as his putts failed to drop and he wound up with 71-69-71—211.

"Three shots can be overcome on the final round," Nicklaus said. "I've not had what I regard as a big round yet. Maybe it will come Saturday. Conditions were a piece of cake today and anybody who did not score well had only themselves to blame. So I guess it's my fault I'm three shots off."

The final round will be televised live in the United States via the Early Bird Satellite by ABC between 7:30 a.m. and noon PDT today.

Bruce Devlin of Australia and Clive Clark, 22-year old Englishman, were bracketed at 212. Kel Nagle of Australia and Lionel Platts of England were at 213.

Three players in the field of 58 had 214—Al Balding of Canada, Jimmy Hume of Scotland, and Sebastian Miguel of Spain. Deane Beman, former U.S. and British amateur champion who turned pro shortly before this year's Walker Cup, pulled his game together with a four-under-par 68, using only 24 putts.

Beman now is level par with 72-76-68—216 — eight shots behind pace setting Roberto.

Doug Sanders of Ojai, Calif., had 71-73-73—217; Bert Yancey of Philadelphia, 75-73-71—219; and Phil Rodgers of San Diego, 74-73-77—224.

EDDIE MATHEWS Hits 500th Homer

Mathews Belts 500th Homer Off Marichal

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Eddie Mathews hit his 500th career homer, a three-run belt in the sixth inning, Friday night in leading the Houston Astros to an 8-6 win over the San Francisco Giants.

The homer, which put the 35-year-old Mathews in a club which includes only six other men, followed singles by Jim Wynn and Rusty Staub and gave the Astros a 6-4 lead.

A walk to Norm Miller, who earlier hit a three-run homer, and a single by Bob Aspromonte finished Juan Marichal and saddled the San Francisco ace with his eighth loss compared to 12 victories.

Joe Gibbon relieved and after getting Dave Adlesh to hit into a double play, gave up a triple to pitcher Dave Giusti to make it 7-4.

The Astros added another run in the seventh on two walks and a double by Staub who had three hits in five at bats to increase his average to .348.

The Giants scored their first run in the first on a double by Ty Cline, a sacrifice and a Willie McCovey's infield out. They got another in the third on a single by Tito Fuentes and a triple by Jim Davenport and added two more in the fifth on another single by Fuentes and Davenport's fourth homer of the season.

Singles by Jim Hart, Hal Lanier and Fuentes accounted for San Francisco's fifth run and Hart batted his 17th homer in the eighth for the Giants' final tally.

K. C. Singles Topple Twins

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (UPI) — Winning pitcher Chuck Dobson and John Donaldson stroked run-scoring singles in the fourth inning Friday night to give the Kansas City Athletics a 3-2 victory over the Minnesota Twins.

With the score tied 1-1 after each team scored in the third inning, Dick Green led off the fourth inning with a single, moved to third on Phil Roof's single and scored on Dobson's single. Donaldson then hit the two-out single that scored Roof with what proved to be the deciding run.

Tony Pierce relieved Dobson in the sixth inning with the bases loaded and two out and struck out Rod Carew, who already had three hits.

But Pierce gave up the Twins' second run in the eighth inning on Rich Rollins' pinch double and Cesar Tovar's single. Jack Aker then came on to pitch the ninth inning and nail down the triumph.

Jim Kaat, relieved by Ron Kline in the ninth inning, suffered his ninth loss against eight victories for the Twins.

The A's got an unearned run off Kaat in the third when Bert Campaneris took two bases on Tovar's fielding error, stole third and scored on Donaldson's tap near the plate that went for a hit.

The Twins tied it 1-1 in their half of the third when Carew singled and eventually scored from third on Dobson's wild pitch after Harmon Killebrew and Tony Oliva walked.

Cards Tally Decider on Wild Pagan Toss

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Julian Javier scored from third base on Jose Pagan's wild throw to the plate from short left field to climax a two-run seventh-inning rally that enabled the St. Louis Cardinals to nip the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 Friday night.

Javier, who reached third on pinch-hitter Orlando Cepeda's run-scoring single, held the bag when pinch-hitter Dave Ricketts lofted a soft fly to shallow left field. But Pagan threw wildly over catcher Jerry May's head and Javier crossed easily with the winning run.

Ed Spiezio singled to start the seventh inning and Javier walked, Cepeda then singled sharply through the middle to drive in Spiezio and send Javier to third.

The Pirates scored their run in the seventh inning on singles by Gene Alley and Pagan and an error by left fielder Lou Brock, who bobbled Pagan's hit enabling Alley to circle the bases.

Larry Jaster struck out five and allowed five hits in seven innings to receive credit for his sixth victory against four losses.

Tommie Sisk started and suffered his seventh loss.

Southpaws Hold Tribe to 9 Hits

NEW YORK (AP) — Fritz Peterson blanked Cleveland, 2-0, on four hits after Downing had fashioned a five-hit 2-1 conquest Friday night as the New York Yankees scored their first doubleheader sweep of the season.

The Yanks had lost two and split nine twin bills before the two young lefties broke the drought with their sharp performances.

For Peterson, it was his second successive victory after losing his first eight. He struck out two, walked three and had only two scores, in the fourth and eighth.

In the fourth, singles by Rocky Colavito and Don Demeter, and an error put Indians on second and third, but he got Chico Salmon on a fly to end it.

In the eighth, a bunt single, a walk and a force play had runners on first and third, but Peterson got Joe Accie to tap back to the mound for the third out.

The Yanks got their first run in the first inning on a walk to Dick Howser, a single by Joe Pepitone and Mickey Mantle's sacrifice fly.

ANGELS---
Of the 14 hits in the opener, 12 were singles. Hall hit the big one in the seventh, breaking up a 2-2 tie after Bobby Knoop had singled and advanced on a sacrifice.

Tommy John (8-7) took the loss. An error, Bubba Morton's single and Knoop's double contributed to one unearned run in the second. Then John fanned Clark, the pitch eluded the catcher and the second run scored.

Such good fortune bode of better times in Comiskey Park, but the nightcap nullified such dreams. Clark (7-6), however, is on the right side of the ledger and convinced that the baseballs are frozen.

Baltimore Dealt 11-5 Drubbing
BOSTON (AP) — Home runs by Tony Conigliaro and Carl Yastrzemski led a 12-hit attack that powered the Boston Red Sox to an 11-5 romp over the Baltimore Orioles Friday night.

Conigliaro belted a two-run shot high over the left field screen for his 14th homer to open the scoring in the first inning. Yastrzemski hit his 20th in the right field seats in the sixth, keying a three-run rally that put the game out of reach.

Yastrzemski's blast off reliever Stu Miller equaled his career high for a season, set in 1965. He also added a single and double in four trips, raising his batting average to .327.

Rico Petrocelli also drove in two runs with a double as the Red Sox finally exploded after an eight-game drought in which they had averaged only 2½ runs per contest.

ACE right-hander Jim Lonborg breezed through the first five innings but was hit hard in the sixth and seventh and needed relief help from John Wyatt.

Reds Nip Mets in 10th, 1-0

CINCINNATI (AP) — Tony Perez bases-loaded single in the 10th inning gave the Cincinnati Reds and rookie right-hander Gary Nolan a 1-0 victory over the New York Mets Friday night.

Nolan hurled a five-hitter for his eighth victory against two setbacks in winning a brilliant duel against the Mets' Jack Fisher.

Fisher, 6-10, got the first two men he faced in the 10th, then walked Floyd Robinson. Vada Pinson lined a single to center, sending Robinson to third, and Pete Rose drew an intentional walk, filling the bases, before Perez delivered the winning hit to center.

Nolan pitched out of a tough jam in the seventh after Ed Charles' single, a walk and Jerry Buchek's third successive single filled the bases with nobody out.

Braves Win With Aaron, Carty Pokes

ATLANTA (AP) — Rico Carty slammed a three-run homer in the first inning Friday night, igniting Atlanta to a 4-2 victory over Philadelphia, whose comeback bid was checked by Hank Aaron's 3rd home run of the season.

Carty's 11th blast of the year came after Mack Jones walked and Aaron doubled.

The Phillies had taken a 1-0 lead when Tony Gonzalez led off the first inning with a homer. They cut the Braves' lead to 3-2 in the third when Gonzalez scored on John Callison's infield out after three straight walks issued by Tony Cline.

Aaron padded the Braves' lead in the sixth with his leadoff homer.

Cline was the winner, boosting his record to 3-4, although he was lifted in the seventh.

The loss was pinned on Rick Wise, 4-7, who gave up only five hits before he was lifted in the seventh for a pinch hitter.

Nats Run Skein to 5 in Row

WASHINGTON (AP) — Paul Casanova looped a two out single to right in the eighth inning Friday night, driving in two runs and leading the Washington Senators to a 3-1 victory over Detroit.

It was Washington's fifth successive victory and Detroit's fourth consecutive defeat.

The Senators' Phil Ortega and Earl Wilson of Detroit were locked in a 1-1 duel until Washington broke it open in the eighth.

Ed Stroud's single leading off the inning was only the fourth hit off Wilson. Stroud stole second as Frank Howard struck out, and continued to third on Bill Freehan's overthrow of second. Fred Valentine walked.

Hank Aguirre came on, but walked Mike Epstein to load the bases and was replaced by Mike Marshall, who was greeted by Casanova's game-winning single.

Doubles by Ken McMillen and Howard accounted for Washington's first run, in the first inning, and the Tigers matched it in the seventh on Freehan's 13th homer of the season.

Finley Denies A's Leaving K.C.

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (UPI) — Charles O. Finley, owner of the Kansas City Athletics, and Milwaukee county officials denied Friday that they were negotiating to move the A's here from Kansas City.

Finley also denied he was negotiating to sell the team. C. C. Johnson Spink, editor and publisher of the Sporting News, said in a signed story that Finley was planning to move the club to Milwaukee. Finley said from his home in LaPorte, Ind.

"The only thing I can say is, if I were the editor and publisher of my own newspaper I'd certainly make damn sure of the facts before I wrote a story under my byline.

"There's absolutely no truth in the gentleman's statements whatsoever," he said.

Finley said he had not heard from Richard J. Stern, the president of a Kansas City investment firm, who said he was willing to make a cash offer for the Athletics to keep the club in Kansas City.

"The Athletics are not for sale today or tomorrow or in the far distant future," Finley said.

Milwaukee county executive John Doyle denied that Finley made a presentation to him to move to Athletics to baseball-dry Milwaukee next season. It was Spink who was credited with breaking the first story that the Braves were moving from Milwaukee to Atlanta.

"I only wish it was true," said Doyle, the county's top elected official who would like nothing better than to find a new tenant for abandoned Milwaukee County Stadium.

"I don't know of anyone else Finley has talked to either."

Bud Selig, president of the Milwaukee Brewers, Inc., a group trying to bring major league baseball back to the city, said the organization has not been in touch with Finley. Finley hasn't been in touch with the brewers either, Selig said.

Young Lions Advance in SoCal PGA Play

breezed by tallies of 3-2 and 4-3.

Jacobs was 7-under-par for 31 holes and faces Reif, the 1965 winner, at 9:35 this morning. Reif, who was unspectacular Thursday, gained momentum Friday with two under-par wins.

McCallister's foe will be Bill Nary of Bonita, who kayaked Jerry Barber on the 20th hole when Barber blew a chip shot. Nary had muffed his drive but still salvaged a par-four in a unique turn of events.

Scodeller, meanwhile, remains the tourney darkhorse. He and Sifford both shot blazing 68s, then Scodeller birdied from 12 feet on the 19th hole to win. The El Niguel pro wasn't as super in the afternoon, but he had it easier in outting Jimmy Clark, 4-2.

His foe today will be Mac Hunter, who ousted Eric Monti on the 20th hole when the five-time SoCal champ called a penalty on himself after hitting his ball on a practice swing. He was in the rough between two trees when misfortune struck.

Best morning match was Jacobs' 3-2 win over Paul McGuire, who eagled the ninth hole but was outclassed by his foe's five birdies. Barber's 1 up morning win over Smiley Quick was with contrasting personalities.

Only 5 Duel for 'Gold'

against Pretense.

The official reason for not entering Forti, who did have minor knee injuries earlier in the meeting but who whizzed to an eight and one-half victory in a special exhibition race last Saturday, was given Friday by Whittingham:

"After thoroughly considering his progress since being pinfired for splints and discussing the situation with Mr. (Bull) Hancock (the syndicate chief), we've decided it would be too much to ask Forti to go a mile and one-quarter against the best handicap horses in the west, so, regrettably, we'll have to miss the Gold Cup."

Har-rumph, as Major Hoople would say.

Contesting the brilliant stretch-running four-year-old today will be aging Native Diver, $100,000 California race upset winner Biggs, Quicken Tree and O'Hara.

That group hardly figures to stir one's blood.

On form, the only horse who can beat Pretense is Native Diver. The eight-year-old veteran has won this same race the past two years and still has demonstrated an ability to break swiftly from the gate and lead his opponents wire-to-wire. Sadly, as we all do, Native Diver has shown signs of running out of gas in his old age.

Handling the 131-pound weight load shouldn't bother Pretense, even though he spots Native Diver eight pounds. Pretense captured the July 4th American Handicap in impressive style with 131 pounds.

The tip off on the race perhaps was best expressed by Native Diver's jockey, Jerry Lambert, after the senior citizen of horse racing lost on Independence Day. Observed Lambert:

"Pretense is making Native Diver grow old in a hurry."

The Diver should age even more about 5:25 this afternoon
